Status of Mercer County Recycling Program Of Concern to Environmental Commission

A Borough representative to the Princeton Joint Environmental Commission last week urged members of Borough Council to find out the status of Mercer County's recycling program. The Borough is committed to participate in the County curbside recycling plan, which is scheduled to begin in October, 1989.

Betty Wolfe, 50 Hawthorne Avenue, said Commission members have been trying to touch base with the Mercer County Improvement Authority (MCIA) "for years," and are concerned about the status of the County plan. The MCIA, under the direction of its supervising planner, John Ettinghouse, will operate the recycling facility. "We feel that the end of 1989 [for the beginning of the program] is very optimistic," said Ms. Wolfe.

During the meeting, it came to light that the Mercer County plan has not yet been approved by the County or by the State of New Jersey, which has mandated recycling throughout the State. It is one of only two counties in the State without a formally approved recycling plan.

"Meanwhile the State garbage fee is being implemented, but we are not able to participate in recycling rebates," said Mrs. Wolfe. The Borough is paying a surcharge of $896 a month because it is not part of a recycling program.

Mayor Barbara Sigmond offered an historical perspective on the issue of recycling in the Borough:

"In 1983, Council passed a recycling law," she said. "In 1984, we put the contract to bid, but received no bids. We tried again, but still received no bids. Then, in 1984 or 1985, John Ettinghouse came in to describe the Mercer County program [which the Borough later joined]. He said it would be in effect within 18 months. We ought to get an explanation of why the recycling plan has not yet been approved by the County or State."

Shopping Center Bank Robbed by Lone Gunman

A man in his late 20's entered the Princeton Bank branch in the Princeton Shopping Center Tuesday morning and escaped with approximately $9,000 in cash. It was the first armed robbery in the Township this year.

Agent James Maxwell of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who is conducting the investigation together with Lt. Samuel Bianco of the Township police, said that part of a weapon was observed by the clerk. He placed the amount taken at just over $9,000.

According to Lt. Bianco, Township police received a call at 9:20 — 20 minutes after the bank had opened — that a robbery had just taken place. A man, he said, entered the bank and handed a female clerk a note stating, "This is a holdup." He was carrying a bag, Lt. Bianco continued, and the clerk saw what might have been a gun protruding from the bag. "It

Serpentelli Hearing on Mt. Laurel Finished; Three Factors of Special Interest to Judge

The hearing on the Township's Mt. Laurel compliance has ended. Judge Eugene D. Serpentelli has granted the Friends of Princeton Open Space 14 days in which to submit additional material and is expected to render a decision shortly thereafter.

The third day of testimony, cross examination and public comment in Calton Homes vs. Princeton Township, et. al. took place Monday in the Ocean County Courthouse in Toms River. Judge Serpentelli is one of three judges appointed by the New Jersey Supreme Court to hear litigation arising out of the high court's 1983 Mt. Laurel II decision which allowed builders to challenge municipal zoning for failing to provide opportunities for housing affordable to low-and-moderate income families.

Judge Serpentelli listed three factors to which he would pay particular attention in making his decision. They are the suitability of the Calton Homes site (the White Farm on Mercer Road); "filtering" (which affects the total 275 units assigned by the Council on Affordable Housing as the Township's fair share of regional and indigenous lower income housing need); and whether or not new graduate student housing should count toward the total.

Filtering, which is part of the COAH methodology for establishing fair-share totals, is based on the theory that, as new nonsubsidized housing is built in a community, it will free up the existing affordable housing stock as residents move up to the new housing. At the first hearing, Judge Serpentelli questioned whether that process can be applied in Princeton with its very expensive housing stock. He questioned, therefore, whether the 275 number was sufficient.

An agreement between the Township and Princeton University for land on West Drive off Alexander Street on which to build additional Mt. Laurel housing will be affected by the judge's ruling on graduate student housing. If the judge accepts the 42 units Princeton University is building at the Butler tract off Harrison Street for married graduate students as part of the 275-unit requirement, the University will sell six acres on West Drive to the Township for housing to be managed by the Housing Fund; if he does not accept the 42 units, the University will donate the six acres plus an additional two acres.

Philip Caton, the architect and planner appointed by Judge Serpentelli to review and report on the Township's affordable housing program, including the agreement with Calton Homes for the develop-

Management Study: Borough Government Needs More Formality

A preliminary draft of a management study commissioned by Borough Council is now under discussion by the Council's personnel committee. The report, done by Peat Marwick, has led the committee to begin talks with Borough Administrator Mark Gordon on ways to reorganize and strengthen his office.

One recommendation contained in the $55,000 study is the establishment of a more formal approach where the Borough administrator acts as a link between the Mayor and Council and the department heads. The possibility of creating an assistant administrator's position was also raised.

Without this formal organization, the Mayor and Council intervene in the day-to-day operations of Borough departments, stated the report. "This situation creates an environment of confusion where com-reached over the counter and scooped up the cash from the cash drawer. He stuffed the money in the bag he was carrying, leaving some bills behind. He fled on foot in an unknown direction.

"There were no restrictions other than the counter," Lt. Bianco said.

Police sent all their patrol cars to the scene and searched the immediate area without success. "We had to act on what we received at the moment and it was vague. We didn't come up with anything," Lt. Bianco said.

Conflicting Descriptions. From other clerks in the bank and from a few customers police received conflicting descriptions of the suspect. Both Lt. Bianco and Agent Maxwell confirmed that the investigators have several descriptions based on the testimony of witnesses.

"We would love to be able to give out a description," said Lt. Bianco, "but we have so many conflicting ones that we can't." Police, he added, can't say for sure if the suspect is white or black.

No threats were made by the suspect, nor were any words exchanged with the clerk, Lt. Bianco said.

The FBI entered the investigation, as it does when there is a robbery at any Federally-insured bank. Assisting Lt. Bianco in the investigation are Det. David A. Funk and Ptl. Stephan Hogan-camp.

Recycling

The Mayor noted that the County later decided to include the recycling effort in its resource recovery program and had to go through "public anguish" on the siting of the resource recovery plant. "It now stands as part of the Duck Island complex," she added.

Mrs. Wolfe affirmed the Environmental Commission's support of the County recycling program, but suggested that the Borough try to institute its own plan while it was waiting for the County to come through. She pointed to the Township's recycling shed at the Shopping Center as a good example of a nearby town coming up with its own effort.

Councilman Mark Freda supported the idea of the Borough developing its own partial recycling plan, but Mayor Sigmund said she thought it would be better to spend time insisting that the County fulfill its responsibilities rather than following prior paths found wanting. She was referring to the Borough's recycling program in the seventies. "The longer it was adhered to, the less it worked," said the Mayor. She also pointed out that Borough residents are able to take their recyclables to the Shopping Center.

New for Squibb: A College

E.R. Squibb is in the process of finalizing details for Squibb College, which will offer undergraduate and graduate accredited courses to Squibb employees.

According to Peggy Ballman, manager of corporate relations, the Lawrenceville-based international pharmaceuticals firm has not yet selected the educational institution with which the college will be connected. Squibb officials are currently considering an association with Princeton University, Rutgers University, or the Wharton School, she said.

While the college will eventually be housed in a building of its own, "that is down the road, and we don't know where it would be," said Ms. Ballman. She said that the availability of the college would probably help in Squibb's recruitment efforts, and noted that the college will probably begin by offering an MBA.

Firemen, Teachers, Will Not Have Preference In Griggs Farm Development Housing Lottery

"One of the costs of taking State money is that you have to adhere to State guidelines."

Thus Township Mayor Kate Litvack summarized why volunteer firemen and public school teachers will not be given special preference in the Griggs Farm housing development lottery. The New Jersey Council on Affordable Housing (COAH) regulations, and the rules of the New Jersey Housing and Mortgage Finance Agency (HMFA), which, along with the state Department of Community Affairs (DCA), has guaranteed $2.8 million to the Griggs Farm project, do not allow sub-preferences, Mayor Litvack said.

Volunteer firemen and Princeton First Aid and Rescue volunteers will be given preference along with those who live or work in the Township, former Township residents, Borough employees and employees of the Princeton Regional School system in the drawing for 50 percent of the 140 affordable units at Griggs Farm. But if the list is long, and they do not get one of these 70 units, their names go into the hopper for the second go around for the remaining 70 units — along with all the other applicants for the low-to-moderate income housing.

A comment from Committeeman Tom Poole expressing the disappointment of volunteer firemen, that they will not receive special preference other than a preference in the first drawing, elicited a discussion at Township Committee last Monday night on the lottery process. Committeewoman Janet Mitchell reported that 1500 preliminary applications have been distributed thus far. By COAH regulations, each application, whether for a market unit or a Mt. Laurel affordable unit, asks for name and address only.

the high housing market to move. It will also ask if the person is a volunteer member of the Fire Department or Rescue Squad.

According to Ms. Crimmins, preference is not being given to volunteer firefighters and rescue squad members for the market housing, because PCH needs the market sales to help subsidize the affordable units. Because it is an innovative project, calling for 50 percent market units, 50 percent Mt. Laurel, PCH is somewhat anxious about the success of the total project and doesn't want

TOPICS Of the Town

According to Marcy Crimmins, executive director of Princeton Community Housing which is developing the Griggs Farm, PCH had designed a lengthy preliminary application asking information which will later be required of the prospective purchaser or renter, but it was disallowed by the DCA. The applications must be postmarked by October 27.

Drawing Date Near. The drawing will take place November 3 in the social room of Holly House at Princeton Community Village when the contents of both post office boxes will be mixed together in one big container. Ms. Crimmins thinks the drawing will begin at 9 and take all day.

First, all the envelopes will be opened to eliminate duplicates. Then all the envelopes will be thoroughly mixed — "like tossing a salad," in Ms. Crimmins' words — and members of the Princeton clergy will pull them one by one. As each is pulled, it will be assigned a number in order, and the name, address, and a notation as to whether the applicant is applying for market or affordable housing will be entered in consecutive order in a bound notebook.

A photocopy of the lottery listing in the bound notebook will be displayed at Township Hall to publish the lottery results. A letter will be sent to all applicants informing them of their number and enclosing information forms. These forms must be returned to the Karl M. Light Real Estate office by November 28.

The forms for affordable housing will ask questions as to employment and whether the person formerly lived in the Township and was forced by to discourage market sales in any way, she said.

The 140 market units will be assigned in order of their lottery number. Prospective buyers will be scheduled for half hour interviews in the office of Karl M. Light or in the sales trailer on the Griggs Farm site. They will be asked to sign a nonbinding reservation and to put down a $250 fully-refundable deposit while they go about getting a mortgage.

Financial Requirements. Credit rating and employment checks will be made to determine the buyer's ability to afford a market unit, but if buyers are unable to meet the requirements, they may be eligible for affordable housing without losing their main lottery number. The end of the process for the market unit applicant is entering into a sales contract for a specific unit.

Based on the information on the returned affordable housing application forms, applications for the 70 "restricted" affordable units will be put in the basket for a second drawing which will establish the Princeton preference. These applicants will be interviewed by PCH, because sales prices and rentals for the affordable units are based on income level. Half the 140 affordable units are to go to persons in the lower income bracket, as defined by State and federal guidelines. The other half are to go to moderate income persons or families, in a ratio of one third rental, two-thirds purchase.

When the 70 "restricted" units are filled, those who did not get a unit in the first go-around are still eligible for a unit in the second go-around which will proceed according to the main lottery. Thus the volunteer firefighter who missed out for one of the restricted units will be competing with applicants from anywhere in and out of State, but he may have gotten a good number in the main lottery and thus be in a good position for one of the remaining 70 units.

Schlossstein Resigns from School Board

Steven B. Schlossstein, who has served as a Township representative on the Princeton Regional School Board since the fall of 1987, has resigned his position. He cited business commitments as the reason for not continuing to serve in the post to which he was elected in April of this year. Mr. Schlossstein had been appointed last year to fill the position vacated by Hugh Brandt when Mr. Brandt resigned to move to Ohio.

The Board of Education is seeking candidates who wish to be appointed to succeed Mr. Schlossstein. The seat will go on the ballot in the April, 1989, School Board election.

Interested candidates must be citizens of the United States, 18 years of age, residents of Princeton Township for at least one year, and registered, qualified voters. Persons must also not be directly or indirectly interested in any contract with, or claim against, the Board of Education.

Written recommendations or applications should be sent to Dr. Robert C. Rader, Secretary to the Board, Valley Road Building, Valley Road and Witherspoon Streets, Princeton. All names will be publicly announced, and all candidates will be interviewed by the Board at a public meeting. Board members will discuss the candidates in a closed meeting before making a formal appointment publicly.

Applications must be received at the Valley Road Building no later than 4 p.m. on Thursday, October 20. Public interviews will be held Tuesday, October 25, in the Valley Road meeting room.

Refining HB rules. According to John Kelsey, chairman of the Township Housing Board, months were spent refining the Housing Board's rules and regulations, which are in keeping with COAH, DCA and HMFA regulations. He says that much effort went into getting the DCA to agree to allow the 50 percent Princeton preference. PCH is developing Griggs Farm in partnership with the Township to count toward its Mt. Laurel housing quota and is following the Housing Board regulations.

Mr. Kelsey points out that Housing Board meetings, which take place on alternate Tuesdays at 5:30 in the Valley Road building, are open to the public. He says the board struggles with the issue of "fairness," knowing that given the particular mix of one-, two-, and three-bedroom units, the ratio of sales to rental, market to affordable in the Griggs Farm development, those with low numbers on the lottery may not get exactly the type and size of unit they want.

Nonetheless, it is clear that both PCH and the Housing Board have worked hard to develop a process that attempts to be fair while making a stab at addressing the need for low-cost housing in the community.

In a related development, Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer reported to Township Committee recently on a meeting with Housing and Urban Development officials on the proposal to locate 20 rental units on the West Drive site which Princeton University will sell or donate to the Township. Mr. Schmierer told Committee that HUD had expressed a willingness to allow the 20 units to be incorporated into the housing project modeled after Griggs Farm that the Housing Board will build on the site.

Mr. Schmierer characterized the meeting as a positive one, and said he and other Township officials were "very much encouraged." At the same meeting, Township Committee voted unanimously in favor of a resolution designating the Etl Farm site as one which should yield a cash contribution to the Housing Board in lieu of actual affordable housing units on a designated portion of the site. The amount of the cash contribution will be $1,875,800.

Too Few Members Cited As Problem for Squad

"There are too few key members running the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad," Captain Edwin Obert told last week's meeting of Borough Council. "They may leave, and we would have a crisis."

Mr. Obert, a 16-year veteran of the Squad, said everything points to the volunteer system failing, "but I would like to buy some time."

Of the approximately 1200 emergency calls each year answered by the Squad, more than two-thirds are answered by volunteer-only crews. The squad maintains daytime paid crews, which were recommended ten years ago by a Joint Public Safety Committee.

During this past summer, however, a serious volunteer shortage emerged. The ratio of calls experiencing a significant delay rose from about one in a 100 to one in 20. A second trend that emerged this summer was the increasing dependency of the entire volunteer effort of the squad on a very few members.

One member holds the jobs of both president and treasurer, an almost full-time commitment. Another has answered a total of 1075 emergency calls in the past 28 months — the equivalent of a 20-year career for the average New Jersey first aider.

Council, at the request of Mr. Obert and of Squad president David Cromwell, agreed to raise the hourly pay for persons hired to fill in for an absent member of the paid crew from $5.50 to $7 per hour. Township Committee had approved this at an earlier meeting.

Also, Councilpersons Mark Freda and Mildred Trotman volunteered to serve on a Joint Public Safety Committee, along with members of Township Committee. The reformation of this committee, which would also include members of the Police and Fire departments, had been requested by Squad. Mayor Sigmund said that she would be happy to add a citizen member if there was any interest.

The First Aid Squad now has a roster of 35 volunteers. Two people recently called in to volunteer, but changed their minds when they found out about the 130 hours of training required.

For driving while his license was suspended, Mr. Jones was fined $515 and lost his license an additional ten days, the revocation to run concurrently with the driving while intoxicated suspension. Darryl D. Stanley, 40 Red Oak Row, was fined $30 as an unlicensed driver.

Two Rooms Are Entered In Cloister Inn Theft

Two students' rooms in Cloister Inn on Prospect Avenue were entered Friday morning between 10 and noon. Only cash was taken.

Taken from one victim's wallet was $75; the other victim reported the theft of $12 from her room. Police said both rooms had been left unlocked.

The same afternoon, another student reported that a $20 bill had been removed from her purse which she had left unattended on a chair in the club's game room. Police add that a number of students had been in the building that day picking up tickets to a party that night at the club. A $550 Honda portable generator was stolen during an eight-day period the end of September from a maintenance building at the Princeton Sewer Operating plant on River Road. Township police report there were no signs of any forced entry into the building.

The 1986 Nissan of a High Bridge resident was broken into last week while it was parked for two hours in the University Store lot. Taken were a $210 radar detector, a briefcase valued at $250, and cassette tapes and other items valued at an additional $90. Borough police said that the driver's side window had been broken out to enter the car.

Van Catches Fire on 206
When Wires Short Out

A six-wheel van, owned by Princeton Pool & Patio Shop on Alexander Road, caught fire early Thursday afternoon when there was a short in its electrical wiring, as it was traveling south on Lawrenceville Road. Damage was estimated at $1,000.
A passing motorist, police said, put out the blaze with a dry chemical extinguisher before nine firemen from Engine Company No. 1 arrived on the scene.
A 7:58 call Friday morning by a Leigh Avenue resident reporting smoke, sent police and firemen to the scene. Upon arrival, they discovered that a malfunctioning washing machine motor was the source of the smoke.

Princeton Medical Center and released.

Township police also listed two other minor engine fires. A short in the battery of an electric fork lift at the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center Thursday evening caused the battery to start burning.
Princeton Fire Chief Richard McKee, 22 firemen, and three trucks arrived at the scene, but the fire was out upon their arrival. Damage was limited to the battery.

The machine was unplugged and the owner advised not to use it until it was repaired. There was no smoke damage.

Store Window Is Cracked; Implement Is Not Known

A four-foot square display window at H.P. Clayton on Palmer Square was cracked overnight during the weekend by an unknown object. Borough police received no estimate of the damage.
In another act of vandalism in the Borough, the front and rear left side tires of a 1982 Honda were punctured while it was parked all day Friday in a lot off Harrison Street near Nassau. Police identified the owner as a resident of Jamesburg.

Trespasser Is Caught After Pushing Proctor

John McKoy, 23, RD4, Kingston, has been charged with defiant trespass and harassment after he was caught fleeing the University campus last week.

McKoy, who had been previously warned about trespassing on the campus, was observed last week in Dillon Gym. As proctors approached and tried to arrest McKoy, he bolted from the gym. When Proctor Peter Glendon approached the suspect in the Little Hall/Dillon archway, he pushed Proctor Glendon, who fell down several steps. The pursuit continued.

McKoy was apprehended by police on Stockton Street near Library Place, charged with harassment (pushing Proctor Glendon) and trespassing and released with complaint summonses. He is scheduled to appear this Wednesday in Borough Court.

Harassment Again. A resident of Clark, Joseph Kozak, 34, has been charged with harassment and shoplifting, following his arrest last week in Marsh & Company Pharmacy on Nassau Street.

Kozak, police said, was observed by the owner concealing a hairbrush inside his shirt. When the owner came up to confront him, he pushed him away and attempted to run to the front door. The owner managed to grab and hold on to the suspect until police arrived.

Kozak has an October 19 date in Borough court.

Quicktech. A clean, chemical free method for controlling deer.

Like many popular ornamentals, rhododendrons are a favorite food for deer. Especially in the winter when evergreens become a staple.

For many people, the answer to this problem has become a deer control system designed and installed by Techfence. For protecting estates, farms and large residential areas, the Techfence system is the most viable alternative to existing deterrents.

But for smaller areas or isolated prized plantings, a permanent Techfence may not always be the right answer.

For this reason, Quicktech has been developed. Not only can this relatively simple system be owner-maintained, but it also puts an end to the unpleasant chemicals and unsightly barriers now in use as deer deterrents.

Not only is Quicktech easily installed, it's also easily moved or removed when deer foraging patterns change or decline.

A small amount of electricity and a one-time investment is all that is required to stop deer predation.

For information on how Quicktech works and what it costs, contact your Techfence/Quicktech contractor today.

Quicktech. A simple, inexpensive alternative. • One-time investment. • Movable and removable. • One-time cost. • No chemicals. • Many years of protection. • Professional installation available. No gate needed.

Fund-Raising Campaign Begun by Eden at Squibb

The unveiling of an oil painting by artist Wilma Langhamer kicked off a fund-raising effort by the Eden Institute Foundation, which will culminate in January with a black-tie gala benefit.

The painting, Winter Dreams, was commissioned by Squibb Corporation on behalf of the Eden Institute. It was unveiled before members of the business community at a reception at Squibb's world headquarters in Lawrenceville.

The painting is intended to be the first of a collection of works acquired for Eden by corporate sponsors. Proceeds from the sale of limited editions of Winter Dreams and other retail items will benefit Eden's programs for autistic children and adults.

Winter Dreams also serves as the title and visual theme for the benefit, which will take place January 21 at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton. Beverly Sills heads an honorary committee for the benefit, which includes Princeton University President Harold Shapiro, Barbara Walters, Arlene Frances, and Carol Burnett.

Area Red Cross Chapter Offers Course Expansion

The American Red Cross, Princeton Area Chapter, has expanded its corporate health services offerings to include "AIDS in the Workplace" and "Back Injury Prevention." The new classes stress prevention and coping skills in different situations.

The AIDS program focuses on how AIDS is and is not spread, high risk behaviors, and appropriate actions to avoid exposure to the disease.

Recording for the Blind Grateful for Volunteers

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am grateful to the Council of Community Services for its recent award in recognition of my volunteer services and appreciative of TOWN TOPICS' coverage of that event. Ours is a community that benefits from the work of many wonderful volunteers, and I would like to mention a group of those to whom I feel particularly indebted. They are the volunteers who contribute so much to the work of the Princeton Unit of Recording for the Blind at 36-A Hibben Road in space provided by the generosity of the Princeton Theological Seminary.

In the recording studio last year, 260 highly skilled men and women contributed nearly 18,000 hours in the painstaking process of tape recording, monitoring, checking, and duplicating educational books for blind and other print-handicapped students and professionals. They completed recording 205 titles which, thanks to duplication, were circulated a total of 908 times.

Recording specialized texts is demanding work. Some of the words are tongue-twisters. Noting page numbers and reading footnotes accurately requires close attention to detail. Describing charts, graphs, and complex diagrams challenges the ingenuity of even experienced professionals. Just this past month, unit volunteers completed an advanced biology textbook that will require 147 hours to read and three or four times that many volunteer hours to record. Yet these wonderful volunteers strain to approach perfection for two reasons:

1. They know their recorded books will be used not once, but many times. The biology textbook was circulated to six students before it left the studio. Now it will go into the master tape library at RFB national headquarters where it will continue to be available for years to come. The 1,370 titles the Princeton Unit has recorded since it was founded 30 years ago have been circulated nearly 40,000 times.

2. They know what extraordinary use ambitious blind and other print-handicapped students will make of them. This past spring, Cheryl Cameron, who went blind at 14, graduated with honors from Princeton's School of Public and International Affairs and is now attending the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

She borrowed no fewer than 204 books from RFB.

On behalf of many thousands who depend on RFB to provide eyes for their minds, I salute the volunteers of the Princeton Unit.

School Board Is Source Of Our Best Candidates

To the Editor of Town Topics:
We were pleased to discover that Mike Tomalia, the Republican candidate for Princeton Township Committee, is a member of the School Board. The School Board has been the source of some of our best Committee people, including former mayors Gail Firestone, Win Pike and Bill Wilson.

With the many difficult problems Princeton faces today, Township Committee can benefit from the considerable experience in local government former School Board members offer. They know the community, how to listen to people's concerns, and how to work with other people to get a job done.

Affordable Housing Lottery Not a Rational Approach

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I welcome your reporting of Princeton Township municipal government deliberations as an amusing distraction from the realities of ordinary living. Your recent article detailing the procedures for allocating the affordable housing units at Griggs Farm went beyond the limit of amusing satire and has caused me to write to you in indignation. Possibly it might heighten the discontent of our citizenry so as to result in better government in the near future.

Basically, our Township has abdicated its responsibility to prioritize the award of the $100,000 credits (approximately, and effectively) and has decreed that they should be awarded within a pre-qualified group of applicants. No effort will be made to award these valuable credits to those who can demonstrate a greater need or merit, but instead our Township will place the selection process wholly within the "lap of Lady Luck."

I would contrast this posture with that of most charitable individuals who also face a similar problem of an excess of charitable requests over available resources. I, and most other people, attempt to prioritize the requests and dispense the funds in a rational (not random) fashion. This fastidious approach may be due to the greater concern which arises from dispensing one's own funds.

In summary, I express my low opinion of dispensing $100,000 credits in a random and thoughtless manner as being tactically inept, and morally deficient. The only defense of the selected procedure may be the prior record of Township ineptitude in a succession of prioritizing situations, which would support the conclusion that any prioritizing effort would be counterproductive.

Headline Is Inappropriate On September 28 Story

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I was surprised and dismayed to find the following headline over a short article in the September 28 edition of TOWN TOPICS: "Confrontation at Wawa: Students, Blacks Clash." The lead paragraph explained that two university students and four black youths clashed at one of the local Wawa stores.

Since when did the two groups, "students," and "blacks," become mutually exclusive? Neither the race nor the color of the two university students are mentioned. Are we to assume that there are no Princeton University students who are black?

Not only is the linguistic logic of this article flawed, but it is simply racist in tone. I don't mean to imply that the racist use of language was intentional; sometimes our racist stereotypes slip out when we least expect them. In any case, this kind of offensive language has no place in our mass media.

Jamaican Fund Drive Has Been Successful

To the Editor of Town Topics:
We at All Saints' Church would like to express our appreciation to all those who responded so generously to our drive for Jamaican Hurricane Relief.

Donations of everything from baby formula to men's suits have poured into the Church from the Princetons and from other communities near and far, and crews have been working daily to sort, box, and label a dizzying array of items; about 100 shipping boxes have been packed, and we have a considerable backlog to tackle.

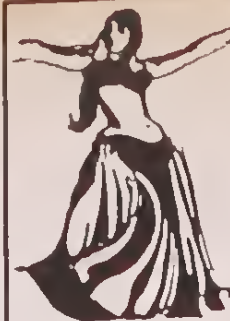

It is truly a sign of the brotherhood of man to experience such an "ecumenical" sharing to help others in desperate straits. Those in Jamaica with whom we have been in touch, and who have suffered the loss of everything from their houses to their jobs, are grateful to have such far-away friends.

Our efforts now turn to the collection of funds with which to purchase case-lots of food and ship them to the island. If anyone wishes to participate, please make checks payable to All Saints' Church, marked "Jamaica Relief," and send to the Church at All Saints' Road, Princeton 08540.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED: The successful launching of Stuart Country Day School's 25th anniversary capital campaign was celebrated at a brunch on Sunday by 300 parents, trustees, faculty and friends including campaign co-chairman and trustee James E. "Back Injury Prevention" is designed to combat the physical pain, as well as the financial burden to individuals and corporations, associated the back injuries. According to the National Safety Council, back injuries account for 15 to 18 percent of all occupational injuries and contribute to increased absenteeism and disability claims.

The course will help individuals to understand the limitations of their backs, learn proper back positioning and movement, and develop a conditioning program to improve backs through strength and flexibility exercises.

Shoplifters Are Younger: Police Nab Two, Aged 7

Shoplifters in Princeton are getting younger.

Borough police, acting on a noon call early last week that two young boys on Nassau Street appeared to be truant from school, located them in the E. N. Lodge toy store on Nassau Street. In their possession, police found toys taken from the Lodge store, as well as from nearby Norman's and Woolworth's, worth a combined $23.

Police said that apparently the two had headed to school in the morning but decided instead to go up town and visit a few stores. "They were sharp," commented Capt. Thomas Michaud. "They told the officer they had a half-day of school and were off for the afternoon."

The two were taken to Community Park School and turned over to the principal. "Our juvenile officer, Dennis McManimon, is looking into the matter but I don't anticipate any juvenile charges at this point," Capt. Michaud concluded.

$1 Million Gift Launches Stuart Capital Campaign

The announcement of an anonymous gift of $1 million highlighted a gathering of more than 300 parents, trustees, faculty and friends of Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart. Gathering at a brunch on Sunday, the group heard plans for Stuart's 25th Anniversary Capital Campaign.

"Our mission of educating women for leadership within a framework of moral values has been tremendously energized by this spectacular gift," said Sister Joan Magnetti, headmistress.

Trustee Chairman Steven F. DeRochi explained that Stuart seeks a total of $5.6 million for endowments and building. Endowments are earmarked for a faculty salary and benefit increment and for financial aid.

Drawings of building plans were on display. Envisioned are: a 500-seat multi-purpose wing designed to adapt to auditorium, chapel or theater use; a new visual arts facility to occupy the lower floor of that space; and new science laboratories to be built in the present art wing. Plans also call for an adjunct gymnasium, an improved lower playing field, additional library space, and another parking lot.

A chapel had been part of the architect's original plans. According to Sister Magnetti, the multi-purpose wing will allow the entire school to gather for liturgies, convocations, plays and concerts.

Among her comments on the plans, Sister Magnetti said that more than half the senior class graduate with four years of science credit. The expanded science facilities will permit the science curriculum to flourish.

Trash Troop Maneuvers Coming Up This Sunday

The Trash Troops' fall cleanup of litter in Princeton will take place on Sunday, from 1 to 4 p.m. Headquarters will be at the Princeton Recreation Center on Witherspoon Street, near Valley Road.

Created last year by Mrs. Charles C. Townsend Jr., conservation chairman of the Garden Club of Princeton, students in pairs — each group with an adult leader — will clean up the mass of paper cups, soft drink cans, soda bottles, paper, plastic and other litter scattered on the streets and sites of Princeton. This year's route will include the Dinky Station, Lake Carnegie's shores, The Great Road, Stockton Street, and Rosedale and Carter roads. Last October's cleanup filled more than 40 large trash bags.

Groups taking part in this fall's trash attack are the Boy Scouts of Troop 43; the Princeton High School Environmental Council; the Interact group of the Princeton Rotary; Stuart, Princeton Day, Chapin and Hun schools; Educational Testing Service; Sierra Club; and parishioners from the Nassau Presbyterian Church and Trinity Church. The Garden Club of Princeton will be joined by the Stony Brook Garden Club, the Contemporary Garden Club, and the Garden Club of Trenton.

The Trash Troops can be recognized by their bright yellow tee shirts, work gloves and trash bags.

cashing a forged and stolen check and with theft on each of two checks she cashed here in September for $250 each.

According to Capt. Thomas Michaud, Ramona Dimler cashed the checks at the United Jersey Bank, 90 Nassau Street, on September 10 and 12. They had been stolen during a robbery in late August at the Dorothea House, 120 John Street, when several items and a small amount of cash were stolen. Nothing was discovered missing at the time except the cash.

Ms. Dimler was arrested on Saturday at Borough police headquarters. Police declined to reveal how their investigation traced the checks to her, but Capt. Michaud said this week, "It hasn't stopped here. We know she did not act alone. We know there are accomplices. More arrests," he added, "may be forthcoming."

Capt. Michaud said while there is no evidence to indicate that Dimler was involved in the Dorothea House robbery, police are continuing their investigation to try to find out who organized the robbery.

Artisans Display Wares At Senior Crafters Show

Fifty craftspeople over age 55, will display their wares at the fifth annual "Senior Crafters Show" from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, October 15 at Stuart Country Day School.

Sponsored by the YMCA, the juried show draws craftspeople from seven states displaying a wide variety of distinctive, high-quality crafts, from fine woodwork and dolls to woven rugs and walking sticks.

Throughout the day, crafters will apply their creative talents in the demonstration of such techniques as handweaving, dollmaking, blacksmithing, wood burning, carving and much more. A nominal $3 admissions fee will be charged and hand-crafted door prizes have been contributed by exhibitors.

According to Senior Craft Show Chairman Bernard Cooke, the 50 crafters were selected from more than 200 applicants to assure that only the highest caliber of goods will be displayed and that crafters will not compete in the sale of similar items.

This year participants include a woolens knitter who patterns works on British designs, a sign and mailbox painter, and an artisan who does strip quilting created from designs of the Seminole Indians.

Crafts exhibited will also include decoy carving, ship model building, French beaded floral arrangements, picture frame making, lampshade making, brass and slate engraving, handwoven clothing, and more. Snacks and a homemade lunch will be available.

Home Poacher Flushed When Realtor Visits

When a realtor took a prospective client to see a home on Princeton-Kingston Road shortly before 6 Thursday evening, she observed a man on the premises. When she asked him what he was doing there, the suspect replied that he was living in the garage and walked away.

The realtor called police and supplied a description. As Ptl. John Seeley was responding to the scene, he saw the suspect walking toward Princeton on the Kingston Road and stopped to question him. When the officer asked to see identification, the suspect handed over two types, each with different names.

After Ptl. Seeley had returned to the home with the suspect, the realtor identified the man she had seen as the one Ptl. Seeley had stopped. The suspect was identified as Keith DelMoorn, 34, whose last known address is 108 227th Street, New York City.

Bicycle Thefts Rampant On University Campus

Bicycle thefts reported last week on the University campus have reached almost epidemic proportions. Of nine bikes stolen, eight were owned by students.

An 18-speed Schwinn mountain bike, locked to itself, was taken from the third entry of Spelman Hall and an unlocked, three-speed bike, valued at $100, was removed from the fourth entry of Spelman.

A coed's brand-new six-speed model valued at $275, locked to a rack, was stolen from the Blair-Joline archway, while taken from the Pyne Hall archway was a 12-speed Schwinn valued at $125. Police said the bike's front wheel had been locked to a rack and when the victim returned that night, the front wheel was still locked to the rack but the rest of the bike was missing.

Others stolen include a $200 10-speed from a stairwell in the basement level of the Engineering Quad, an unlocked 10-speed Peugeot model worth $150 from the front entrance of Forbes College, an unlocked men's Raleigh from the sixth entry of Little Hall, which the victim valued at only $30, and a 12-speed Schwinn valued at $350. The latter was locked to a rack in front of the main entrance to Firestone Library.

In the lone noncampus theft, a Township resident had locked his bike for a half-hour Thursday evening to a no-parking sign on Witherspoon Street near Quarry.

When he returned at 10:30, the chain lock securing his Fuji 12-speed had been cut and left on the ground and his bike was missing.

Sheehan Fined, Jailed
For refusing to disclose how he obtained more than $165,000 to repay a trustee in a 1985 bankruptcy case, Princeton attorney Timothy J. Sheehan Jr., 55, 216 Russell Road, has been fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail for contempt of court. The maximum penalty allowable for the crime was handed down this week in Newark by a federal judge.

As the escrow agent in the bankruptcy case of attorney William C. Baggett, Mr. Sheehan was supposed to have deposited $165,000 in 1985 in an interest-bearing certificate of deposit. When a bankruptcy agent was unable to obtain an accounting of the escrow fund after several attempts, a bankruptcy court in May, 1986, ordered the funds released. A month later, Mr. Sheehan turned over $165,035.32 but he refused to reveal how he had obtained the money.

Frank Caplan, 77, of Brookstone Drive, died September 28 at the Medical Center. Mr. Caplan was the founder of Creative Playthings, the toy and play material company.

Born in Hull, England, Mr. Caplan lived in New York City before moving to Princeton in 1959. A graduate of the College of the City of New York, he earned a master's degree in the philosophy of education from Teachers College, Columbia University.

In 1932, he was the first male student teacher at the City and Country School in New York City, where his keen interest in play and playthings was developed. In 1934, he and his wife established a summer camp for young children in Pawling, N.Y. that was based on the cooperative working of a farm. This experiment was written up in The Journal of Educational Sociology and Recreation Magazine. From 1936 to 1940 he was senior project supervisor at the Youth Service Division of the W.P.A. Adult Education Project of the New York City Board of Education. In 1940, he and his wife established a group education service and for five years edited and published The Leaders' Aid Bulletin and The Group Activity Digest, a series of research and resource publications.

Creative Playthings was started by the Caplans in 1945 as an educational toy shop on West 95th Street in New York City. The company expanded to create and manufacture fine playthings and play materials for infants up to early grade school age children. The company developed a collection of folk toys and contemporary toys from around the world which toured the United States.

Creative Playthings was sold to CBS in 1966 and Mr. Caplan was made director of the CBS Learning Center. After leaving CBS, he established Edcom Systems, Inc. in Princeton, a research and development organization devoted mainly to the first thousand days in the life of an infant. He ended his business activities in 1975 and founded the Institute & Museum of Fantasy & Play, Inc., a collection of folk art objects and toys which is now in the Children's Museum in Indianapolis.

As an editor and writer, Mr. Caplan's name appears on numerous books on early childhood growth and development. His The First Twelve Months of Life continues to be a best seller.

"Born Yesterday" Says It Loud and Clear: "In a Democracy, Education Is the Key"

The best news coming out of McCarter Theatre this week is Deborah Jeanne Culpin, who plays the blonde Billie Dawn in this season's opening revival of Born Yesterday.

Not only does she bring humor and warmth and, yes, sex appeal to the role of the educable floozy with a heart of gold and a mind like a steel trap, albeit a rusty one, she is one of McCarter's new "resident company," so we can expect to see her all through the year.

There are other beautifully cast and acted roles in this production of Garson Kanin's 1946 comedy-melodrama that ran for years on Broadway before being made into a highly successful film starring, as did the stage version, the late great Judy Holliday.

McCarter's old friend G (without the period; remember?) Wood returns to play the alcoholic old, but still shrewd, Harvard-trained lawyer and former United States assistant attorney general who now takes orders — and large payments — from that ruthless, upwardly mobile, international junk tycoon, Harry Brock, as they try to bribe favorable legislation out of the U.S. Senate in a world littered with post-World War II scrap metal.

Jay Doyle, back for his tenth McCarter season, is, as always, first-rate as the handsome Senator Norval Hedges, point man in Brock's skullduggery. Pegge Winslow is fine as his elegant wife who knows how to treat a briber socially.

Kevin Chamberlin, who scored in McCarter's two offerings last summer, is thoroughly convincing as Brock's chunky but fast-moving brother and general handy-man who makes the drinks, tips the help that sweeps in and out of Harry's fabulous Washington hotel suite, and goes hunting for a fed-up Billie when she walks out in Act III.

Not Convinced by Brock. Convincingness is what the actors most need in this rather hard-to-swallow fable, and, for this reviewer at least, Jim Baker is not altogether convincing as Harry Brock. He is gross enough, especially in the violent, melodramatic scenes when he loses his temper and slaps Billie and others around. But he projects no redeeming characteristic — other than wealth, of course — to explain why our redeemable Billie would become his concubine. One doesn't sense in his performance the intelligence that would loft a poor dishonest lad to this peak of opulence and power. Unmitigated evil can be rather boring. His performance may be more multi-dimensional by the time you see Born Yesterday, which you should.

TIP FOR A TEACHER: "And if you want a tip, I'll tell you. Sweet talk me. I like it." Billie Dawn (Deborah Jeanne Culpin) instructs her instructor, reporter Paul Verrall (Edmund Davys) in McCarter Theatre's "Born Yesterday."

Edmund Davys radiates intelligence as the New Republic investigative reporter hired by Harry to wise up Billie, and one can believe that as the lessons proceed she might fall for him; but he is hardly one to make an immediate romantic impression on her, as the play requires him to do.

The many minor roles — hotel maids, bellhops, barber, bootblack, manicurist (Harry gets the works!) — are all well played. Especially good is Cynthia Martells as the chambermaid who sees something out of joint in an economy that pays her $18 a week and lets Harry Brock pay $235 a day for hotel space. (The program says "Time: The Present," perhaps to underline the play's timelessness, or timelessness, but it takes place in the '40s.)

But while Born Yesterday touches on economic inequity and ethical corruption in Washington, D.C., Billie is really the play. Her metamorphosis under the New Republic man's tutelage from near total ignorance of our system, to basic understanding, and finally to rousing — if malapropie — eloquence is funny, touching, and even kind of thrilling.

Our system does make a lot of sense to a reasonable person, especially one encountering it for the first time; it is inspiring; and it is always in danger from operators who make enough money to buy our elected representatives.

Implausibilities a Challenge. Its implausibilities make Born Yesterday a challenge to a director: Harry Brock's sitting down to be interviewed by the New Republic before he even unpacks his bags is a quick way to identify him, but it rings a bit false, as does the reporter's living just down the hall in this luxury hotel, though the New Republic usually has a rich young man or two aboard.

Richard Risso's direction is lively and humorous, and his broad background permits him to weave together Born Yesterday's many elements — comedy, farce, melodrama, romance, political tract, feminist manifesto, to name a few.

John Jensen has shown admirable restraint in giving us a palatial, two-level hotel-suite living room without going overboard as the play's all-out exaggeratedness must have tempted him to do.

Some plays are perfect but pointless. Born Yesterday has its imperfections, but its main point comes through loud and clear: In a democracy, education is the key.

MILES FROM HOME

The concert will be presented informally at the Dance Studio at 185 Nassau Street on Saturday, October 15, at 8 p.m. It will be followed by a discussion with the artists.

Ralph Lemon's unique approach to dance-theater combines elements of narration, music and visual design with contemporary dance. His works express spirit and passion, often fueled by sexual ambiguity and emotional ambivalence. They are also known for their imaginative use of music, linking Beethoven with a beach party, Sibelius with eye-shifting rivalries, and Bach with a fancy dress punk event.

The company has presented more than 80 performances in five countries, and has been sponsored by the American Dance Festival, Spoleto Festival USA, Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival and the Joyce Theater in New York.

The program will include three of the company's best known works, Boundary Water, Wanda in the Awkward Age, and Happy Trails. In the first, to the music of Beethoven, four women and two men exchange beach balls and oranges as love tokens in what might be a contemporary version of Afternoon of a Faun. The second set is a dark and strange solo journey to a Berlioz song, and the final number is danced to a medley of faded jukebox music in a study of loneliness, anger and alienation.

The concert will be presented without elaborate sets or lights. For information call 452-3676.

Professional Company Presents Moliere at PDS

Princeton Day School will bring a professional French theater company to the area for an evening performance of Moliere's Le Medecin Malgre Lui or The Doctor in Spite of Himself. The Compagnie Claude Beauclair will perform the three-act comedy on Thursday, October 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the school's Herbert McAneny Theatre.

"The PDS French department is pleased to offer this opportunity to French students and the French-speaking public to see a play in French performed by professional actors," said Marilene Edrei, head of the foreign language department at the school.

Tickets at $6 for students and $8 for adults may be reserved by calling the school at 924-6700, extension 250. They also will be sold at the door on the night of the performance.

Children's Opera Set For a School Holiday

When the children are out of school on Monday, October 10, Voices will present Chanticleer, a children's opera by Seymour Barab. The 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. shows are open to the public at the Princeton United Methodist Church. The one hour performance is for children ages 4 to 10.

Chanticleer is based on Chaucer's tale of the proud rooster with the glorious voice. In the tradition of Aesop's Fables, each animal learns a lesson and shares a child-sized moral with the audience.

Voices is a regional ensemble of professional soloists. Before the opera, Voices involves the children in music and staging activities. Youngsters will identify four mystery voices and find out about vocal skills like trills and glissandi. Then the children will rehearse and stage "Zip-a-Dee Doo-dah." During the opera, eight children will participate as actors and musicians. To reserve a performer's place for a child call 737-9383.

Chanticleer is played by Robert Kestler. His hen-pecking wife, Pertelote, is portrayed by Michelle Disco, of Kingston, a singer familiar to area audiences. The farmer is played by Linda Mindlin of Princeton, and the fox by Robert Wallace. The fully staged and costumed opera is directed by Edward Randall, and conducted by Lynne Ransom, music director of Voices.

Children's books on the Chanticleer story can be found in most public libraries. Tickets ordered in advance will be accompanied by Chanticleer, a Story to Tell. To order, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a $4 donation per person to Voices, Box 404, Pennington 08534. A donation of $5 will be requested at the door. The church is located at the corner of Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue.

Community Orchestra To Hold First Meeting

The Princeton Community Orchestra will hold the first meeting of its 26th season on Thursday, October 13 at 8 p.m. in the Princeton High School Band Room. Subsequent meetings will be the second Thursday of each month, November to May, with extra meetings for strings only on the fourth Thursday of October, and January through May.

The orchestra does not give performances, but is primarily a reading group, where fine orchestral music can be studied and played. Membership is open to area residents interested in playing fine music and who have the ability to read the part at sight. Openings are available in most sections.

Joseph Kovacs, director, has been a member of the teaching faculties of Douglass College and Westminster Choir College. He has performed with leading orchestras in the United States and in Europe. He is founder and director of the Collegium Musicum of Princeton.

For information call Joseph Kovacs at 921-8732 or Peter Cook, 924-4835.

Eileen B. Saums, speaks on An Interesting Decorating Theory.

In our column this week, we'd like to discuss something we thought you'd find interesting. It's about how a theory has come to interior decorating — not from the usual sources of books or experts — but from, of all places, nature.

Oddly enough, years ago, leading decorators everywhere said it was wrong, for example, to use blues and greens together. Then, it finally dawned on the experts that one of the most beautiful sights in the world was green grass under a blue sky. If such a scene of green and blue was pretty outdoors, why wouldn't it be pretty inside?

And that's how it happened. People realized that Mother Nature was ahead of everybody when it came to creating beauty, and gradually, the use of greens and blues were accepted. It's reassuring to know that nature showed the way, ahead of men and machines.

And this is true of more than just greens and blues. Years ago, people thought that many colors — and materials — didn't go together. Now we know they do, and if you question this, just look at a pretty flower garden where all color combinations are used together beautifully by nature, or at a scene where different kinds of woods blend beautifully.

And speaking of beauty, remember we can help furnish your home beautifully. For a fine selection, stop in.

Remember, it's not too early to think about the holidays.

IT'S NEW To Us

Duplicating Assistance At Kinko's Copy Center

"What I'd like to stress is that we offer quality, dependability and timeliness. Our turnaround time is excellent. We're open seven days a week — in fact, we have plans to be open 24 hours a day — and things can be copied very quickly. We promise next-day service for very big orders and same day for everything else."

Jim Berish, manager of Kinko's Copy Center at 33 Witherspoon Street, is very enthusiastic, not only about the existing services at the store but about his part in shaping the direction of the store for the future. "The company gives you a lot of range as to how things are run," he explains. "It's really up to me, and it can be very challenging. I'm looking forward to offering more services. We've just gotten a color copier, for example, which will be ready soon."

"I'm excited about the store and the response we've been getting," he adds. "We service the academic community as well as the business community and private individuals. Our business is about 50-50 between the academic and other customers. We do a lot of Professor Publishing which includes class material, study guides — whatever professors put together for students. And we do a lot of term papers and theses, too."

"One thing I'd like to do is reach out more to the business community," he continues. "I don't think we're reaching them as much as we'd like. I want businesses and offices to know we offer high-quality service and quick turnaround. We can handle anything."

"For example, we recently made 300,000 copies for a company, and we're pretty proud of it. They called the Thursday evening before Labor Day Weekend and wanted the order Tuesday morning. We were able to fill it."

Nationwide Chain Kinko's is part of a nationwide chain of some 500 copy centers, many of which are located near major universities. Each operates under private ownership while adhering to the company's overall standards and business format. Mr. Berish, who studied management in school and worked in the printing industry, notes that "This is a great company, and they are very good to their people. They attract an excellent staff, and many of the employees are educated in business. Our employees are the best. We offer very special service, and we really care about helping people. Also, I have to say, this is fun. It's a fun place to work."

Kinko's has a variety of copy machines, including two self-service machines. "People seem to enjoy doing it themselves, but, of course, we'll help them if they want help," as well as a very high-quality machine, a high-volume machine and the new color copier.

COPIES, COPIES, COPIES ... "We'll do anything from one copy up to 300,000 copies," notes Kinko's assistant manager, Jeff Read. "We offer a number of different services, including FAX and the in-store rental of Macintosh personal computers." The copy center, which opened over a year ago, is located at 33 Witherspoon Street.

"We have a full range of paper," adds Mr. Berish, "regular, white, colors and higher grade for resumes. We also offer a full binding service, including clear or vinyl, cardstock or hard cover."

A recent addition to Kinko's is its FAX telephone transmitting service. As Mr. Berish explains, "This service transmits information across telephone lines instantly. It can go across the country, anywhere. We have an international FAX service as well. This is truly instant service."

Computer Rental Mr. Berish also reports that customers have been using Kinko's Macintosh personal computers to prepare resumes or other writing projects. "We rent the computers, and we have the software. People can come in and actually do their resume right here. It's printed out on a laser printer. There are three personal computers, and they're easy to learn to operate. We help to get people started, and a lot of customers have been taking advantage of this service."

A full range of stationery supplies, including pens, pencils, notepads, envelopes, Scotch tape, scissors, etc., is also on hand. Another service provided by Kinko's is taking passport photos. "We have Dollar Off coupons which we leave in the travel agency next door," reports Mr. Berish.

Duplicating prices start at 7 cents a copy for regular paper, 9 cents for colors and 15 cents for resume quality. All prices of a single original drop by half after 100 copies. Mr. Berish adds, "We also offer a lot of volume discount." Bindings are $2.25 for cardstock, $3.25 for clear or vinyl, and $8.95 for hardcover. There are also some "Buck a Bind" specials.

FAX service is $4.95 for the first page and $2.00 for each additional page. International FAX service is $9.95 for the first page and $2.90 for each additional page. Macintosh computer rentals are $10 an hour, and passport photos are $8.95.

Mr. Berish adds that delivery and pickup are another part of Kinko's service, and he is convinced that "When someone walks in our door, they'll be back. I know they will appreciate our service."

Kinko's is open Monday-Friday 7:30 to 10, Saturday 9 to 6 and Sunday 12 to 10.

Kitchen, Household Items Highlight Kitchen Kapers

"I really love working here. It's fun to be surrounded by all these wonderful things," says Cathy DelleMonache of Kitchen Kapers at 7 Palmer Square East. Manager of the gourmet kitchen shop for two years, Mrs. DelleMonache adds, "It's great fun here. It's a fun store. Also, this is a terrific area. I enjoy the customers and trying to help them. The people are interesting, and we also get a lot of people coming back again. I'm not good with names, but I know their faces and what they bought."

Kitchen Kapers is one of seven Kitchen Kapers stores in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The Princeton store opened in January 1986, and the shop has had an enthusiastic reception, with customers enjoying both its attractive appearance as well as the wide array of intriguing merchandise. It is a wonderful store for browsing; those who come in for a specific item are sure to spend some extra time surveying the selection. Whether it's functional for the serious cook or fun for a whimsical flight of fancy, Kitchen Kapers has it all and more.

Everyone loves homemade bread, and the shop has a great new machine to make the baking easier. "The Hitachi Automatic Home Baker is a wonderful item," reports Mrs. DelleMonache. "You just put the ingredients in, and it mixes them, then kneads it, lets it rest, lets it rise and tells you when it's done. You can time it, and it's a great way to make bread."

"The yogurt maker is another popular item," she adds, "and we also have Kitchen Aid mixers as well as Cuisinarts. There are juicers and toasters and nice woks and pasta makers. Calphalon cookware is very popular and also Cuisinart. We have cast iron cookware, too, and also French copper cookware."

One of the most appealing aspects of Kitchen Kapers is the delightful aroma of coffee beans which wafts through the air. There is always a complimentary cup of hot coffee waiting for customers — featuring flavors such as Viennese cinnamon, Amaretto decaf, vanilla almond and Swiss chocolate almond.

COOKWARE AND COFFEEMAKERS: "I think of us as a gourmet kitchen store," says Cathy DelleMonache, manager of Kitchen Kapers on Palmer Square. "We have cookware, coffeemakers and 25 different kinds of coffee beans. We really have a wide range of items, everything from dinnerware to bread-making machines to wooden lemon reamers."

"We have 25 different kinds of coffee beans, including decaf, and they are all very popular," notes Mrs. DelleMonache. "Our coffeemakers are one of our biggest draws, and we have many types and styles from one-cup Melitta filter drip to Krups and Braun 12-cups to the Salton 3 for All, which makes espresso and cappuccino as well as regular coffee."

There is a very nice assortment of dinnerware at Kitchen Kapers. "We carry a lot of different dinnerware," comments Mrs. DelleMonache. "Lindt Stymieist is very popular. It's very sturdy, doesn't chip and comes in different colors. It's bright and cheerful and looks great."

"Another popular line of dinnerware is the English Port Merior Botanic Garden series. This continues to be in demand. We also have a selection of some foods," she adds, "and cookbooks. We do very well with them. Martha Stewart books are very popular and also The Frugal Gourmet, and, of course, there are many others."

Pack a Picnic. Picnic baskets have become a popular wedding gift, and Kitchen Kapers has them in different sizes, with such appointments as glasses, flatware, napkins and cloths.

Microwave accessories are big sellers at the store, and

Mrs. DelleMonache also notes the ongoing popularity of salad spinners. "We continue to sell them, and I really can't believe how many we sell."

She adds that one of the reasons for Kitchen Kapers' success is the increased interest people have in their eating habits. "They are interested in what they eat now and how it's prepared. They're careful about eating. Fitness has a lot to do with it."

There are gadgets galore at the shop, and customers can choose from a dumpling press, percolator top, spiral slicer, ice tongs, scrubbers, brushes and graters, as well as a special spaghetti fork for draining and serving pasta, eggs, vegetables, rice, etc., and the "Kitty Pet Food Fork" which is designed to fit into corners of all shapes of pet food cans.

A very large selection of bakeware includes muffin tins, molds, cookie cutters and cookie sheets. And, if you are still undecided as to your purchase, you can obtain the "Ultimate Organizer for Your Favorite Couch Potato" which consists of a glass, coaster in the shape of a potato and a slipcover with pocket for the arm of that favorite armchair or sofa — all for $19.99.

Prices cover a sizable range at Kitchen Kapers. Gadgets start at 99 cents and go to $4.99. Coffeemakers are $29.99 up to $109.99. Juicers are $24.99 and up, wine racks $24.99, three piece stainless steel wok sets $24.99, animal potholders $9.99 to $24.99, spice racks $14.99 and $19.99, coffee beans $5.99 a pound for regular, $6.99 a pound for flavored and $8.99 a pound for decaffeinated. Cuisinart food processors are $129.99 and the Hitachi Automatic Home Baker is $299.99.

"We discount selected items," explains Mrs. DelleMonache. "There are always certain things discounted such as our coffeemakers, the juicers and some of the electrical items. We also have good prices on Cuisinart food processors."

"I think we offer good service, too," she adds. "The staff is very helpful and knowledgeable. We also offer gift certificates and free gift wrapping. We ship items, and we also have a bridal registry."

Kitchen Kapers is open Monday to Saturday, 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday until 8:30 and Sunday 12 to 5.

STANDARDS OF RESPONSIBLE CONSUMER SERVICE

Consumer Bureau's Panel of consumer volunteers expects that all Consumer Bureau Registered business people will:

1) In any business transaction, and to the best of their ability, KEEP ALL THEIR PROMISES TO THEIR CUSTOMERS — whether expressed or implied. (Consumer Bureau considers that — except as otherwise provided in a factory warranty or other understanding at time of sale — every sale of merchandise or services carries with it an implied promise that the merchandise or services will do the job or yield the satisfaction that an average consumer would reasonably expect under the circumstances) or;

2) WHEN PROMISES CANNOT BE KEPT,
MAKE PROMPT, ADEQUATE REFUNDS, AD-JUSTMENTS, REPAIRS OR REPLACEMENTS:
and

3) Furnish all customers, on request, with FUL-LY ITEMIZED STATEMENTS of all charges, showing how determined or computed.

4) WHEN PRICES ARE NOT QUOTED OR AGREED UPON IN ADVANCE, charge no more than others in the same business and locality are currently charging for the same or similar merchandise or services. (Consumer Bureau sometimes, in such situations, conducts local price surveys to determine "going rates" for particular products or services, but never takes a position, one way or another, on a price which has been agreed upon IN ADVANCE between a consumer and a business firm).

5) When requested by any customer, explain to the best of their ability the CAPABILITIES AND LIMITATIONS of whatever they are selling in relation to the customer's stated needs;

6) ADVERTISE ONLY MERCHANDISE AND/OR SERVICES WHICH ARE ACTUALLY
AVAILABLE at the prices and on the terms advertised.

7) Except as otherwise agreed in advance,
TAKE PROPER CARE OF CUSTOMERS' PRO-PERTY and make prompt repairs or reimbursement for property damaged or lost while in business firm's custody.

Consumer Bureau
DOES NOT EXPECT BUSINESS PEOPLE:

8) Except under warranty or guarantee, to provide free or infallible diagnosis of mechanical failures or other malfunctions;

9) To refund money, or exchange merchandise or cancel a contract merely because of a customer's change of mind — especially when material has been cut, special purchases made or expenses incurred, nor to make refunds or adjustments without being given reasonable opportunity to correct errors or defects in workmanship or merchandise.

Lecture on Anselm Kiefer To Begin Museum Series

The Sunday Lecture Series of The Art Museum, Princeton University, will begin on Sunday, October 16, at 3 p.m. in 101 McCormick Hall on the University campus. An illustrated lecture, "Anselm Kiefer: The Wings of Folly," will be given by Vivian Knussi, an art historian and staff lecturer at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

The lecture will be held in conjunction with a Friends of The Art Museum trip to the Museum of Modern Art to view the Anselm Kiefer exhibition. This is the first retrospective of the works of this German artist, born in 1945 and acclaimed as one of the most important European painters working today. The heroic theme of Kiefer's painting and sculpture explores the history of the German myth and iconography.

The lecture is sponsored by both the Friends of the Art Museum and the Docent Association of the Museum. For more information about the lecture, the trip or the Friends, call JoAnn Carchman at 452-3762.

The artist will meet and talk with gallery visitors at the opening reception. She also will conduct two lifecasting workshops, one for PDS students and another for the sight-impaired.

The exhibition will be on view at the gallery through Saturday, October 29. Weekday gal-

An exhibit, "Recent Drawings," will open October 6 with a free public reception from 5 to 7:30 in the Library Gallery on Mercer County Community College's West Windsor campus. It will remain open until November 5.

The show features the drawings of four emerging area artists: Anne Bevan, Carol Critchlow, Dwight Jackson and Beverly Nickel. All are currently studying with Mel Leipzig, professor of art at MCCC and guest curator for this exhibit.

Two Princeton artists received awards in the New Jersey Water Color Society's annual open exhibition. They are, Eiko Kahn, for "Uncharted Domain," and Linda Lombardi, for "Half Empty."

The exhibition will be on display through November 27 at the Monmouth Museum on the Brookdale College campus in Lincroft.

Artworks (formerly the Princeton Art Association) is sponsoring an exhibition in two parts at the Art Center of Trenton and the Trenton City Museum. The exhibition, "Landscape Painters of the Delaware Valley," will be open through November 13 at both locations.

Among the artists whose works are included in the exhibit are Rex Goreligh, Henry R. McGinnis, Mel Leipzig, Marguerite Doernbach, and Dave Orban.

The Visual Arts Program of Princeton University will present an exhibition, "Nonlinear Evolution 1985-1988, a Trajectory of Two- and Three-Dimensional Images," by Noburu Nakamura, from October 4 to 21 at Lucas Gallery, 185 Nassau Street.

An exhibition of work by Brian Lies will be at the Norbert Considine Gallery, Stuart Country Day School, from October 13 through November 11. The public is invited to a reception for the artist on October 13 from 5 to 7.

Mr. Lies' illustrations appear regularly in the Boston Globe and Christian Science Monitor. Earlier this year, he received the Boit and Dana Pond awards from the Museum of Fine Arts for excellence in painting.

Win Over Columbia Will Put Princeton Football Team At 3-0 in Ivies for First Time Since It Won Title in '69

The good times returned to Palmer Stadium last Saturday, after the nasty ending the prior weekend.

It was another roller coaster contest for the Princeton football team, but this time it managed to nail down the victory. It beat Brown, 31-27, and thereby erased the unpleasant memories of the last-second defeat by Holy Cross. The significance of the victory shouldn't be underestimated.

Finally, for the first time in five years, Princeton has beaten the Bruins. They may not be one of the better teams in the Ivies this fall, but the same was true in prior years when they beat the Orange and Black.

Steve Tosches, who had seen three of those losses firsthand, can heave a huge sigh of relief now that he has this one behind er's seat, losing 35-14. The rest of the season went right down the drain as well. Princeton finished 3-7.

The team is headed to New York again this weekend, and the only thing that has changed is the name of the playing field — it's now Wien Stadium. The Lions have won just one other game (Yale in 1983) since that 1982 victory over Princeton, but over-confidence could kill the Tigers on Saturday, just as it did six years ago.

It's still too early to claim the "driver's seat" for the Orange and Black in the league race, but a clearer picture will definitely emerge after two important league contests this weekend. Cornell will travel to Cambridge to meet Harvard, and unbeaten Penn will face its first real test of the season against Brown at Providence.

If the Crimson and the Quakers are victorious, the battle for the Ivy title will involve those two plus Princeton. And both must play the Tigers in Palmer Stadium on successive Saturdays later this month. However, if either Cornell or Brown can pull off an upset, then Princeton's title chances will become even brighter, because it has already beaten the Big Red and the Bruins.

Right now the outlook for Old Nassau, after the first three games, is as bright as it has ever been in the last 19 years.

And a victory Saturday will put Princeton right on the same track as that 1969 team, the last one to win an Ivy title. That's the last time the Tigers were 3-0 in league competition.

A Sad Tale for Light Blue. "Football enthusiasm on Columbia's campus is at its highest pitch in years," began a press release from Columbia before the opening game with Harvard. It talked about seats on four chartered buses to the game in Cambridge selling out within hours.

The enthusiasm was generated by a 34-14 victory over Hofstra in a pre-season scrimmage. "The Hofstra scrimmage gave us our first tangible evidence all our hard work may pay off," commented coach Larry McElreavy. "That first win is coming closer and closer."

Alas, for the beleaguered McElreavy and his players, there has been no further evidence to date. The Harvard contest was over after two periods of play, the Crimson winning, 41-7. The home opener against Lafayette was an even bigger disaster, 49-3. But the defeat by Penn in Philadelphia last weekend was surely the most disappointing.

Saturday's Picks

Princeton over Columbia.* Tigers will pin loss number 45 on the still toothless Lions.

Holy Cross* over Dartmouth. Big Green hack in frying pan after win over Davidson Harvard* over Cornell. Crimson should be able to knock off Big Red at home.

Brown* over Penn. If they play like they did here, Bruins can pull off an upset against Quakers, who have beaten three nobodies.

The 2-0 league mark (2-1 overall) Princeton is sporting at the moment has some significance also. It's only happened twice in the last two decades, 1975 and 1982, but was wasted both times.

Bob Casciola's 1975 squad defeated Columbia and Cornell to start, and then lost four of its next five league encounters to finish 3-4 in the Ivy race, 4-5 overall. It was even worse in 1982.

An opening day triumph over Cornell at Ithaca, followed by a win here over Brown put Princeton at 2-0, and full of confidence. "We're in the driver's seat now," commented co-captain Vic Ruterbusch at the time.

Second Half Does It Again As Tigers Rally to Win

"This is the third weekend in a row that this team has needed a kick at halftime."

The post-game comment of coach Steve Tosches reveals both good and bad elements about his team. First, it's unfortunate the players need two periods to get rolling, but they do respond to whatever is said at halftime, and play superbly in the final 30 minutes.

"Not anything you would want to print," Tosches responded when asked what he said at halftime.

It certainly must have woken up the defense. That unit, which had allowed the visitors 24 points in the first two periods, gave up just three more the rest of the way. The Bruins' offense, which rolled up 318 yards in the first half, got just 165 in the second.

The Tigers were burned repeatedly by the running and passing of junior quarterback Danny Clark, who hit on eight of 13 attempts for 165 yards and ran for another 66 in the first half, much of the yardage coming on option plays.

"A guy like Clark can cause you fits," Tosches commented. He has speed and he can throw. This is not the Southwest Conference, and you don't see the option that much here."

The Tigers' defense saw plenty in the first quarter alone, as Clark twice hit for big-play touchdowns. The first came with the game less than two minutes old, when Nick Badalato took a handoff, pitched back to Clark, who found receiver Mike Geroux all alone along the sideline for a 36-yard score.

After a 22-yard field goal by Chris Lutz, when Princeton's opening drive stalled on the Brown five, Clark and Geroux combined for a 44-yard pass near the end of the period.

Princeton did manage to answer this touchdown with one of its own at the start of the second quarter. A couple of passes to tight end Mark Rockefeller, who had the biggest day of his varsity career with eight receptions for 124 yards, helped propel the Tigers down to the Brown five. Jason Garrett and Rockefeller then combined on a touchdown and a successful pass for a two-point conversion to cut the Brown lead to 14-11.

The teams continued to trade touchdowns through the rest of the second period. The Bruins rebounded with a 70-yard drive in seven plays, capped off by a 24-yard run off tackle by Badalato. The Orange and Black answered with an 82-yard march that reached the end zone when fullback Dennis Heidt went up the middle on a draw play from four yards out.

Enough time remained for the Bruins to score again, and Princeton was fortunate it was only a field goal. Another Clark to Geroux touchdown pass was nullified by an offensive interference penalty, and the visitors settled for three points. The Tigers' offense had produced 18 points in the first half, but the defense had allowed 24.

Tosches' words worked wonders at halftime, and the second half belonged to Princeton. It took the kickoff and drove 73 yards down the field in 10 plays, with Judd Garrett going the last two. Judd, who had been held to just 17 yards on 10 carries in the first half, came alive in the second with 104 in 13 attempts in the second.

"They were more tired than we were," he commented after the game. "I had the holes to run through and some were bigger than others." On a similarly hot day a year ago in Providence, it was Princeton who wilted under the sun, going scoreless in the second half.

Princeton's first turnover of the season, a fumble by Greg DiFelice, stopped another promising drive in Brown territory, but the Tigers finished the quarter leading 25-24.

In the fourth, another fumble, this time by Judd Garrett, gave Brown the ball at midfield. Clark took his team down inside the Tigers' 10, where Stephan Lins kicked his second field goal. The Bruins reclaimed the lead, 27-25 with 7:18 remaining.

The drive for the winning touchdown started from the Princeton 36, after a nice run-back by Kris Keys. Except for one pass to Dave Wix and a short run by DiFelice, it was all Jason and Judd. Judd got the call on three successive plays to bring the ball from the Brown 34 to the six. From there Jason scrambled up the middle for a touchdown, breaking two tackles on the way to the end zone.

There was plenty of determination at the end not to give this one away, and Frank Leal sealed the outcome when he intercepted a Clark pass intended for Geroux at the Princeton 11.

Game Notes: Jason Garrett had another superb passing day, completing 21 of 30 tosses for 277 yards. His three-game totals are 51 completions in 76 attempts (67 percent) for 575 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions. He now has 2,632 yards passing in his 13-game varsity career, good enough for fifth on the all-time list. Clark ended with 15 completions in 24 attempts for 218 yards, and also gained 112 yards rushing in a fine individual performance.

Injury report: Linebacker Franco Pagnanelli aggravated his hamstring pull, and could miss the Columbia game, maybe Bucknell as well. Offensive guard Jay Davidson, injured against Holy Cross, will miss two to three more games. Defensive tackle Kevin Lynch still has not seen any action.

Freshman Football Wins First, 19-17, at Hanover

Exciting football games aren't limited to the Princeton varsity; the freshmen team opened its season last Sunday with a last-second triumph over Dartmouth at Hanover.

Trailing 17-16 after a Big Green score with 1:12 remaining, the Tigers responded with a last-ditch drive under the guidance of quarterback Chad Roghair. They reached the Big Green's 20-yard line, and with two seconds remaining Jason Scott booted a 37-yard field goal for a 19-17 triumph.

In his first game wearing the Orange and Black, the 6-5, 210-lb Roghair, the heir apparent to Jason Garrett, completed 18 of 27 passes for 160 yards. Wade Wilson, 5-11, 185-lbs, led all running backs with 62 yards in 14 carries and one touchdown that came on a two-yard run.

The other touchdown was scored by Tom Zawacki on a three-yard run. Scott also kicked a 34-yard field goal earlier in the game. Princeton's next game will come against Columbia this Friday night in New York.

Hun Routs George, 39-0; Bristol Game Scrubbed

Scoring in every period — four times in the first half — the Hun School football team rolled to its fourth straight win Saturday in blanking George School, 39-0.

Now it appears that the Hun express will suffer an unexpected stop. To the dismay and disappointment of Hun coach Bill Long, Friday's scheduled contest with Bristol (Pa.) High School has been scrubbed.

Long, tight-lipped, attributed the cancellation to "miscommunication" but he left no doubt that it was Bristol that had pulled out.

Notified only last Tuesday, Long and Hun athletic director Bill Quirk have been active in trying to find a replacement. The strongest possibility is Wildwood High School, which is not scheduled to play this weekend, but it looks, said a resigned Long this week, as though Hun will have an open date. "There's nothing I can do."

If Hun has a week off (and Quirk confirmed on Tuesday that such will be the case) its next opponent will be Blair Academy October 15. Peddie, Pingry and Admiral Farragut follow. "The schedule is going to dramatically change. It's going to get a lot tougher," said Long.

CELEBRATION TIME: Hun's Jeff Mayer (81) and Mike Shourds (15) prepare to congratulate teammate Jamie Bell (22) who has just scored on a 14-yard pass from quarterback Todd Coyer. Hun had an easy time in defeating George School, 39-0.

Early on, when Hun scored on the fourth play of the game, a 40-yard gallop down the sidelines by Steve Kertesz, it seemed assured that visiting George School was going to be in for a long day.

Hun scored again in the opening period on a one-yard sneak by freshman quarterback Todd

Coyer, after a second TD run by Kertesz was erased by a holding penalty. Hun opened the second period with a 14-yard TD aerial from Coyer to end Jamie Bell and when Kertesz scored again from eight yards out, Hun owned a CRAIG CRASHES THROUGH: Princeton High's Julian Craig (39) escorted by John Molinelli (55) crashes through Nottingham defense for a gain in Saturday's 20-8 win. Craig rushed for 138 yards and returned a kickoff for 82 yards to lead the Little Tigers to their first win.

PHS Footballers All Smiles after First Win But Tough Contest Looms Against Ewing

There is nothing — absolutely nothing — that will turn a floundering football team around, replace frowns with wide grins, more than will a solid, convincing win. Just ask Princeton High coach Kurt Vollherbst.

After his team had defeated visiting Nottingham, 20 to 8 Saturday, Vollherbst said, "There is no question... we had to win this one. I think this win will give the kids something positive to build on. We're just going to get better."

In winning the game they had to win, the Little Tigers managed to overcome a poor first-half performance, while combining some outstanding running by Julian Craig and some equally fine performances by the defense.

Said Vollherbst, "I thought we played very poorly in the first half. We woke up in the second half. We decided we could play football; we realized we could run on people and control the ball. The defense had a big hand in there; the tackles played very well in the second half and we were able to start things off."

Armed with a new quarterback in Scott McGoldrick, the Little Tigers are mentally ready. The important question still to be answered is: Can they last physically with a strong Ewing team in their next start?

PHS will host Ewing on Saturday. Kickoff is at 11. Ewing is currently on top in the Valley Division of the CVC with a 2-0 mark. Princeton, West Windsor, Lawrence and McCristin are all bunched at 1-2, so another win is vital to keep the Little Tigers' league hopes alive.

An added footnote to next Saturday's game is that this may be the last time the two schools play each other. In an anticipated realignment next year of the Colonial Valley Conference, based on projected school enrollments, Ewing will return to the Colonial Division, made up of larger schools. West Windsor would move up, too, while Hamilton and Nottingham would drop down to the Valley Division.

The plan, subject to the approval of the CVC principals and not the athletic directors, would split the area's 11 football teams into three groups. Under the realignment, the smaller schools group would not have to play the larger schools. Princeton, as a result, would no longer play Ewing, Trenton and Hightstown after this season.

Craig Runs for 138 Yards. There were more than a few Little Tigers deserving of laurels after the Nottingham win, but none more than junior running back, Julian Craig.

Craig rushed for 138 yards in 21 carries and electrified the home fans when he returned a Nottingham punt 82 yards early in the game for Princeton's initial score.

"Julian is a strong, powerful runner," said Vollherbst. "He doesn't have breakaway speed, but he has very good eyes. He can see the holes develop. He can get you a good 10 to 15 yards once he's through the line. That's what we got this week. He's only a junior. I expect nothing but positive things from him."

Craig — and Vollherbst — singled out the PHS offensive linemen for giving him the holes to run through.

Bang-Bang TDs. All the scoring in the first half was confined to a 16-second burst before the game was four minutes old. The Northstars recovered an on-side kick to open the game and scored with 8:50 left when Jose Rodriguez bolted in from the six. The pass for a two-point conversion was good.

At the 8:34 mark, Craig's ensuing kickoff return brought PHS back, but the score was only 8-6, as Davy Kahn's PAT kick was blocked. However, the boost that PHS might have expected to follow Craig's run never materialized. In fact, Nottingham spent a large part of the second quarter driving from its own 22 to a first down on the PHS eight. Rob Morris, "Mr. Does Everything," broke up a fourth-down pass on the PHS goal line to keep the visitors off the board in a big play.

Second Half Is Princeton's. Princeton, Craig and the Little Tiger defense dominated the second half. "The biggest thing is we were able to come back and control the ball," agreed Vollherbst.

Craig made some good gains, including a 22-yard rumble, but penalties (a holding and clipping on one play, a face mask on another) kept the Little Tigers off track. But when an Amman Pope punt was downed on the two, PHS had Nottingham in a hole. "Come on, Blue, don't give them anything!" shouted a Little Tiger player. They didn't and Nottingham's punt was short to the PHS 30.

Craig took over from there. He burst off tackle and was tripped by a tackle on the five. In two more carries, Craig was in the end zone. He then ran the PAT attempt over to put PHS in front to stay, 14-8.

A turnover led to Princeton's third score. With 4:25 left to play, and Nottingham 90 yards away, the Northstars fumbled. Steve Petrecca knocked the ball loose from the runner and Morris recovered for PHS. Three plays later, McGoldrick squirted over from five yards out. Kahn's kick was good.

McGoldrick was 0-for-5 passing in the first half and 1-for-7 for the game in his first start. "I don't know if it was first-game jitters or what but Scott can throw the ball much better than he threw today. He'll come along," said Vollherbst.

Indeed, the only pass completion for PHS in the first half was a toss from McGoldrick to Morris on the sideline. Morris then threw deep to Pope, who juggled the ball, but the loose ball was grabbed by Tony Cucchi before it hit the ground. The play covered 35 yards but PHS was not able to capitalize on the break. In the second half, the Little Tigers proved they do not need any tricks or luck to be a winner.

27-0 halftime lead over the winless Cougars.

"We physically handled them," said Long. "The big thing was we have the best second group I've ever had in all my years of coaching and it gave me a good chance to look at them."

After Mike Shourds returned the second half opening kickoff 50 yards to the end zone, Long turned the ball over to his jayvee players. Freshman back Doug Bullock capped the Hun scoring with a three-yard run in the final period.

Although a few Hun players got banged up — none seriously — Long summed up the game as "a good outing."

Kertesz, the hard-running fullback, rushed for 124 yards on 12 carries to lead the Raiders' ground game but Long continued to be impressed with his freshman quarterback, Coyer. Coyer, he noted, was 9-for-11, passing for 138 yards. "He has a lot of poise for a freshman."

What also impresses is that Coyer's aeriels are consistently on target, whether he throws from the pocket or launches them while scrambling.

The position is his. Long revealed that veteran signal caller Jim Sheeder, who was sidelined with a knee injury before the start of the season and who underwent arthroscopic surgery, is done. "He tried it and the knee wouldn't hold up," said Long. Sheeder, one of three co-captains of the team, will have a second operation October 18.

PHS Rally Tops Trenton In Soccer on Monday

The Princeton High boys' soccer team, which has had little to cheer about this season, was all smiles Monday when it scored two goals in the final period to nip Trenton High, 4-3.

PHS was trailing 3-2 at the end of three periods when Charlie Jules tied the score with just under four minutes remaining and senior Jason Harding got the game winner with 1:58 left to play.

Earlier in the game, Diego Cordoba scored Princeton's first goal in the second period and Dylan Penningroth connected for PHS in the third. Trenton (2-9) scored all its goals in the first half. Wagner Marseille had 13 saves in goal for PHS, as the Little Tigers won for the third time this season.

In cross country at Ewing's 3.1 mile course, the Princeton boys' team defeated Ewing, 16-46, but was nipped by Steinert, 27-29, for its first loss after five victories.

Princeton's Jerod Neas finished first in 16:34 and teammate Rian Bogle was third in 16:53. The Spartans, however, claimed second, fourth, fifth and seventh places.

Doug Bolander of PHS was sixth with a clocking of 17:44 and Ken Haag of PHS was eighth across the line in 18:16.

The scheduled quarterfinal round of the Mercer County Tennis Tournament at Mercer Park was postponed a day because of rain.

PHS, seeded fourth, was scheduled to oppose Notre Dame.

In other matches, top-seeded Peddie will go against Hightstown, West Windsor will oppose Hun, and Hopewell Valley, seeded second, will tackle Steinert.

In its opening match last week, PHS edged Nottingham, 3-2. Karen Castellano and Amy Smith won the second and third singles without losing a set, and the second singles of Natalie Volweider and Jaymie Brechman won, 6-1, 6-2. The Northstars' top player, Julie LoPrinzi, defeated Princeton's Kim Crosey, 6-1, 6-0.

In other opening matches, Hopewell defeated Lawrence, 5-0; West Windsor, seeded third, blanked Hamilton, 5-0; Notre Dame defeated Stuart Country Day, 4-1, and Hun eliminated defending champion Lawrenceville, 3-2.

The PHS-Hightstown field hockey game set for Monday was postponed — not because of wet grass but because the grass at Community Park, Princeton's home field, was too high.

Two Wins for Hun Soccer. The Hun School boys' soccer team, which was edged, 1-0, last week by rival Princeton Day School, rebounded with a pair of wins. The Raiders defeated West Point Prep Friday and on Monday they evened their record at 5-5 with a 4-1 victory over Lakewood Prep.

Hun scored once in every period, as veteran middy Paul Martelloni scored the first two for Hun, Ted Curvy connected in the third period and sophomore Brady Halper scored his first goal in the final period. Visiting Lakewood, which suffered its sixth straight loss without a win, averted a shutout with a goal in the final period.

Seasons Getting Longer For PHS Soccer Teams

Victories continue to be elusive for both the Princeton High girls' and boys' soccer teams this year.

Both teams lost on Friday to Hightstown by the identical scores of 2-0; earlier the girls bowed to Notre Dame, 4-1, while the boys were losing to the Irish, 4-0. The girls are currently 1-7-1, the boys 2-7.

The girls will next play Nottingham under the lights Thursday at 7:30 at Veterans' Park in Hamilton Township. Less than 24 hours later, at 3:30 on Friday, they will oppose rival Princeton Day School on the Panthers' home field.

"It's going to be tough two days in a row, especially after playing late at night," commented PHS coach Becky Mackey, who reports her varsity squad has shrunk to 14 as a result of injuries. On Tuesday afternoon, her team will host a strong Steinert club.

Coach Ron Celestin's boys' team will entertain Nottingham at 3:45 on Friday and travel to Steinert on Tuesday.

"We're still working on it. We're going to try to get an offense going," said Mackey. "But we don't have the numbers, we don't have the experience."

An injury to Marcie Procacini which forced Mackey to juggle her lineup created a further diminution in Little Tiger attack in the Hightstown game, one PHS can ill afford. Jen Roberti scored in the first period for the visiting Rams on a penalty kick and again in the second period to account for all the scoring.

Saskia Webber had 17 saves in goal for PHS compared to 4 for her Ram counterpart.

Earlier, four different players scored for Notre Dame as the Irish improved to 6-1 at the expense of the Little Tigers. PHS averted a shutout when Alisa Algava scored on a pass from Procacini in the final period. Webber was busy in goal again with 24 saves.

Not a good week. Last week was not a good week for the boys' soccer team, from both an injury and scoring standpoints.

The Little Tigers failed to score in either game. Against Hightstown, sophomore goalie Scott Petrone injured his back and had to depart. Petrone suffered muscle spasms, reported Celestin, who described his return as questionable, on a day-to-day basis.

Against Notre Dame, half-back Marc Glogoff sustained a broken nose. After undergoing surgery, Glogoff will probably be out until the final three games of the season.

Offensively, the Little Tigers are struggling again. Diego Cordoba, who galvanized PHS by scoring four goals in his debut against Hamilton last week and was named Offensive Player of the Week as a result, was contained by both Hightstown and Notre Dame.

"I think his first game against Hamilton was no fluke," said Celestin, "but the defenders have done a good job on him. He's doing a good job using his skills; we have to learn to adjust to his style of playing."

On Friday, Hightstown scored in the middle two periods for their sixth win in ten starts. After Petrone had to leave the goal, he was replaced by Wagner Marseille whom Petrone had stepped in for last year as a freshman when Marseille got injured. Between them they stopped 19 shots.

In winning their seventh game in eight starts, the Irish had a big edge in shots on goal but Celestin still felt his Little Tigers had played hard against one of the better teams in the area. "Notre Dame always manages to keep the pressure on," he said.

Petrone kept the score down with 18 saves, some of them spectacular efforts.

PDS 11 Has Good Chance To End Losing Streak

It will be a match-up of two winless football teams this Saturday when Princeton Day and George face off in Newtown, Pa.

The Panthers produced a valiant effort in a 34-20 loss to a bigger Pennington team last Saturday for their third loss in a row. George is now 0-2, after a 39-0 rout by undefeated Hun. "Someone is going to win their first game Saturday," commented PDS coach Jim Walker. "Each team will want to win this one."

A year ago, PDS proved itself the better team, notching an 18-14 triumph over the Cougars. To do so again, the Blue and White absolutely must cut down or eliminate the mistakes and fumbles that have dogged its efforts to date.

Pennington won by 13 points on Saturday, but this contest was closer than the score would indicate. A few key plays hurt PDS right from the start.

PDS got a break right at the beginning when Pennington fumbled after the opening kickoff on its own 32. PDS took over, and would have had a first down inside the 20, but a penalty on a player not wearing his mouthpiece set them back. The Raiders took over the half on downs.

Two plays later they got the first score of the game on a 57-yard pass play and led 7-0. The home team upped that to 14-0, after recovering a PDS fumble deep in Panther territory.

The contest might have turned into a one-sided affair at this point, but the Panthers refused to let this happen. Putting together their best drive of the season, they went 80 yards in 12 plays. Zach Gursky got 45 of those yards with some fine, hard running right up the middle, including the last four for the touchdown.

Behind 14-7, PDS got the ball back quickly on an interception by Carlos Sagebien, and struck for the tying touchdown. This time Chris Overman was the main man, running 34 yards to make the score 14 apiece, with the aid of Carlos Sagebien's second successful point after.

Pennington controlled the third period, scoring once then and again early in the fourth to regain its two touchdown lead, 22-14. Again, PDS refused to die. After the kickoff Carlos Sagebien and Matt Henderson combined on a perfect 65-yard pass play for the Panthers' third score. Henderson ran a flag pattern, caught the ball on Pennington's 45, and outran his pursuers into the end zone.

PDS climbed back to within eight, but this was as close as the Panthers could get. They fumbled twice more, the second leading directly to the winners' fifth score.

The PDS offense showed definite improvement with Gursky and Overman running for 78 and 71 yards, and Sagebien completing four of six passes for 71 yards, two of those to Henderson. Walker praised Gursky's efforts running the ball, and also cited the play of Scott Kelberg, Steve Fulmer and Will Fisher.

PDS Boys' Soccer Splits Vs. Hun, Lawrenceville

The Princeton Day boys' soccer team managed a split against nearby prep schools last week, slipping by Hun, 2-1, and then losing to Lawrenceville, 4-0 on Friday.

More prep action is on the schedule for this week. After a contest scheduled to be played against Pingry this past Tuesday, the Panthers will take on Peddie Friday at home.

In the Hun game it was not shots on goal that counted, but rather shots in goal. Though it was outshot 25-7, the Blue and White put two of their seven in the net. Both came off the foot of sophomore forward Chris Jones in the first 7½ minutes of the contest. He tallied the first unassisted at 5:55 into the quarter, and again 75 seconds later, assisted by Hardy Royal.

PDS coach Carlos Cara was not concerned with the disparity in shots, many of which came from long range, and often went over the crossbar. Goalie John Belanger had 17 saves.

Cara would have liked to see more shots from his own troops, but he was pleased with the way his team began the game.

"We went out strong and got two early goals," Cara commented. "We surprised them. While they were trying to push the ball out of the back, we were forcing mistakes. What's nice is we've had these opportunities in the last four games. Jones finished on both for us."

The Lawrenceville contest was a different matter. While Cara acknowledged the Larries were the better team, he felt PDS allowed the winners to do more than they were capable of doing. "We stopped playing 20 minutes into the game and started watching them," Cara commented.

One exception was John Belanger, who made 28 saves. "The score would have been much higher, had Belanger not

TWO GOALS AND AN ASSIST: Princeton Day's Laura Perhach had a goal and two assists in last Wednesday's game against Mount St. Dominick's, as the Panthers won easily, 6-0. Perhach also scored against Peddie this past Monday, but it was the only score the Blue and White could muster, losing 2-1 to the Falcons in double overtime. (Yahoo Witsop photo) made so many fine saves," Sophomore Missy Collins also picked up an assist.

The Blue and White started quickly again on Friday against George, scoring once in the first period and twice in the second. Sarah Foster scored in the first, assisted by Kysha White. In the second, Foster assisted on a goal by Lake, and Jenny Myers finished off the scoring with an unassisted tally.

2 More Victories Notched By PDS Girls' Soccer

The win streak reached seven last week for the Princeton Day girls' soccer team. The Panthers recorded an easy 6-0 triumph over Mount St. Dominick's last Wednesday, and Friday knocked off George School, 3-0.

The MSD contest was pretty much over by the end of the first period, as the Blue and White tallied three times. Alicia Collins set the tone immediately, scoring within the first 60 seconds, assisted by Lisa Lake. Collins also scored in the third and fourth periods to wind up with her first hat trick of the season.

Lake, assisted by Laura Perhach and Dina Johnson, also tallied first-period goals. Perhach scored on a penalty kick in the second period to raise the margin to 4-0. Perhach and Lake also picked up other assists to finish with one goal and two assists apiece.

Sophomore Missy Collins also picked up an assist.

The Blue and White started quickly again on Friday against George, scoring once in the first period and twice in the second. Sarah Foster scored in the first, assisted by Kysha White. In the second, Foster assisted on a goal by Lake, and Jenny Myers finished off the scoring with an unassisted tally.

Edith Roberts and Beth Kahora split the time in goal, each making three saves, in recording back-to-back shut-outs. The dynamic duo now have four to their credit, and have allowed only four goals in seven games.

The Panthers will face a big test on Wednesday when they take on Pingry at home. Last year Pingry blanked PDS, 5-0. Another home game is set for Friday against Princeton High at 3:30.

PDS Girls' Tennis Loses To Hightstown in MCT

Hightstown won two of three singles matches and first doubles to defeat the Princeton Day girls' tennis team, 3-2 last Friday.

Jennifer Thurman won easily at first singles, 6-2, 6-2, but Becky Dengler dropped a 6-3, 6-0 decision at number two. Kate Leone lost a tough three-set match 6-4 in the third set after she and her opponent split the first two, 6-1.

Suzy Lebovitz and Heather Roberts, who have done well together for the Panthers this fall at first doubles, were beaten in two close sets, 7-6 (7-2), 6-4. Claire Brown and Laurie Stuart provided PDS with its second winning match, beating their opponents, 7-5, 6-1.

Earlier in the week, PDS had no trouble defeating George School, 4-1. Leone was the only loser at singles, and Lebovitz/Roberts and Brown/Stuart won at doubles. The Panthers are now 4-3.

PDS Field Hockey Falls To Dwight-Englewood, 2-0

"We practice, practice and practice skills, but they have to remember to bring their heads to the game."

In one sentence, Princeton Day field hockey coach Jill Thomas summed up her team's performance in a disappointing 2-0 loss to Dwight-Englewood last Wednesday. Thomas was bemoaning the Panthers' lack of intensity in this contest, which will help determine the seedings in the prep tournament later on.

Thomas felt her players were not in the game from the start, and did not really begin to work together as a team until the final 10 minutes. By that time, PDS was already down 2-0, and had little chance of coming back against an aggressive DE team.

Aided by a couple of PDS mistakes, the Bulldogs had tallied twice in the first half, the second coming with just 30 seconds left. The Shots on goal were almost even, six to five for Dwight, but PDS did not get off a really strong hit on the cage. The Panthers seem to lack the kind of player who can finish off a rush down field with a goal.

With the loss, PDS's record fell to 1-2-2. The Blue and White will meet Hun this Wednesday afternoon at home, followed by Kent Place away on Friday, and Peddie home on Tuesday. Wins in those games will be important in order to achieve a higher seed for the prep tournament.

PHS Rebounds in Hockey As Brassell Scores Five

Led by the scoring of Jenny Brassell, the Princeton High field hockey team last week regained its winning ways with a 2-1 victory over Notre Dame and a 6-0 whitewash of Hamilton.

"We're still in the running," commented PHS coach Joyce Jones this week, six games away from the cutoff date for the State tournament. "We haven't given up. We're improving with each game, whether a win or a loss. We're looking forward to playing the teams we've lost to one more time." PHS is currently 4 and 2.

The emergence of Brassell as a scorer has been recent and dramatic. The senior, who played midfield and backfield for Jones in previous seasons, is playing on the forward line for the first time this fall. She scored both goals in the win over Notre Dame and had three in the victory over Hamilton — the first for the Little Tigers that wasn't decided by a one-goal margin.

The five goals vaulted Brassell into second place in the Colonial Valley Conference individual scoring race behind Hopewell Valley's Ann O'Hara, who has seven. "She's starting to realize her relationship to the ball and get the final connection," said Jones of Brassell. "She's dodging and passing well. I'm excited and I hope she continues to do well."

PHS will be at Nottingham on Friday and will host Steinert Tuesday afternoon in upcoming games — the Blue and White's eighth and ninth games in a 15-game regular season. The final two opponents are West Windsor and Hopewell, the two teams that have defeated the Little Tigers so far this season.

Brassell scored once in each half against Notre Dame to offset a goal by the Irish's Liz Kennedy with 6:43 left to play. Until then, the PHS defense, led by sweeper Toni Gorog and Cindy Stovall, had shut down the visiting (4-4) Irish. Jones cited Gorog for helping to initiate the PHS offensive plays and Stovall for sparking Princeton's second-half play.

IT'S BEHIND YOU: With the ball nestling behind them, Alisa MacNeille of Princeton High (in white shirt) and Notre Dame player converge at Community Park field during Little Tiger's 2-1 triumph.

As for the lopsided win over Hamilton, it was one of those days when everything clicks, recalled Jones. "We had some super crossing passes." Princeton's first goal, she said, was typical.

"Cindy [Stovall] had a super pass from right to left to Rebecca Savidge. Rebecca was in the right place to redirect the ball right in the cage. Five of our six goals were off crossing passes and redirections."

Savidge, who is second to Brassell in scoring with four goals, had two against Hamilton, while Alisa MacNeille had the other goal. A spectator at the game was PHS goalie Gita Nanden; her teammates did not allow the winless Hornets (0-5) a single shot on goal.

Tryout Schedule Listed For Flying Fish Team

Tryouts for the Princeton Family YMCA Flying Fish swim team will be held this week through Friday.

The team is divided into a junior team, ages 6 to 12, and seniors, 12 to 18. It is open to all at the YMCA minnow level or American Red Cross advanced beginner level and higher. The team provides an opportunity for those who have never been on a team before and for experienced swimmers who are interested in advancing with a program that isn't extremely competitive.

Two Junior Olympic Gold Medalists

Two Princeton youths have won gold medals at the finals of the New Jersey Olympic Track and Field Meet held this summer in New Providence. Courtney Fitch (center) competing in the 12-13 age division, broke two State records: his own in the triple jump by more than three inches with a leap of 36-11½ and in the running long jump where his 18-7½ effort bettered a nine-year-old mark by more than ten inches.

Sloan Berbaum, at left, competing in the 9 and under group, won the 800 meter race by more than a second with a time of 2:49.4. With them, as they hold their State champion certificates, are Ted Forst (right) program supervisor for the Princeton Recreation Board, and John Rasweiler of the Recreation Board's management committee. The two champions represented the Princeton Recreation Department.

Mobil Wants to Expand At Its Site in Hopewell

A 2.14 million-square-foot laboratory and office expansion has been proposed by Mobil Corp. on its 435-acre site on Pennington-Rocky Hill Road in Hopewell, about seven miles from downtown Princeton. The addition could accommodate 5,000 additional employees over the next 20 years.

The plans would allow a six-fold increase in employees by the year 2008, and would quadruple the present amount of laboratory and office space. At present, there are approximately 1,200 employees at the research center, which contains about 679,000 square feet of space.

The plan, which was contained in a master plan submitted by Mobil to the Township on September 15, is scheduled to come before the Township for conceptual review on October 11.

The first phase of the proposed project, a 90,000-square-foot lab building, is targeted for 1994 completion.

A spokesman for Mobil, Jim Amanna, said the company has no immediate plans for expansion described in the proposal, "but we do expect we will grow steadily over the next few years."

Mobil drew up the new master plan at the request of Hopewell Township. The second phase of the new plan, to be completed by the year 2000, would add 880,000 square feet to the complex. The third phase would add 1.17 million square feet by the year 2008.

The report stated that Mobil hopes to retain the Township's rural character by building all of its new laboratories close to the center of the property, near the existing buildings and nearly invisible from the road.

Township Administrator James Davy pointed out that the municipality's infrastructure cannot accommodate much growth. He also said that quality-of-life issues must be considered when evaluating a project of Mobil's magnitude.

Probe of Moon Planned by Space Studies Group

The Space Studies Institute, (SSI) of Princeton, is planning a private probe to orbit the moon in search of ice and to map the elements present in unexplored lunar regions.

Since the early 1960's, scientists have theorized that water may be trapped in permanently shadowed regions near the moon's poles. The water could result from a number of different sources, including the original formation of the moon, or deposits of water from asteroidal and cometary material. This water would migrate and collect in the cold, shadowed regions after being deposited by impacts.

"At present, no one knows whether or not this water is there. The easiest way to search for this resource is to fly a probe in lunar polar orbit which can use remote sensing equipment to detect the hydrogen in water molecules," said Greg E. Marynick, Institute CEO.

The Institute will conduct a series of workshops to examine possible probe designs. These will be conducted in conjunction with SSI's May 1989, Conference on Space Manufacturing at Princeton University. Techniques under consideration include launching a small robot probe from the space shuttle which would use tiny ion engines to propel the probe to the moon. Another technique would take advantage of one of several surplus Atlas rockets which the government has offered to noncommercial users.

Although there is no certainty that water exists on the moon, if it is there, it would be enormously valuable. Water is made up of hydrogen and oxygen, which are the propellants of choice for chemical rockets. A source of rocket propellant outside the Earth's gravity can greatly reduce the cost of space operations, including travel to and around the moon and visits to other planets. In addition, relatively abundant water would greatly simplify setting up human outposts on the moon or in free space.

The Problem With Sugar

Like many other foods, the problem with sugar is not so much the number of calories it contains, but the reaction it causes in your body. When you eat sugar, it is quickly absorbed into the bloodstream. As your blood sugar rises, your body reacts by secreting insulin. Insulin drives sugar from the bloodstream, and promotes its storage as fat when it's not needed for immediate energy. The more sugar you eat, the stronger the insulin reaction and the more likely you are to store the calories you consume in the form of fat. And don't forget it's not the teaspoons of sugar you add to foods that add to the calories. It's all those teaspoons of sugar found in desserts, candies, cereals and beverages that add up so quickly.

At Diet Center we teach you how food affects your body and how to make wise food selections. Making informed decisions about what foods you will eat is the first step on the road to weight loss and permanent weight maintenance. Call Diet Center, or come in today for a free consultation and let our counselors help you get on the road to better nutrition.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

FEED YOUR HUNGRY TREES —

with Sam deTuro

Woodwinds Associates

If you haven't fed your trees in the past two years, please read on. Feeding, at times can be even more important than spraying. The problem is that most people can't tell when their trees are starving until it's too late to save them. Dead twigs, dying branches, poor leaf development, dull looking bark are definite signs. And under-fed trees are extremely susceptible to rot disease and insect attack.

If you prefer to do your own work, you might consider a consultation with us at WOODWINDS (924-3500). We can give professional recommendations and suggestions that will be beneficial to your garden and to you. Do give a call, we'll be happy to be of help.

Mt. Laurel

ment of the White Farm, has argued in his report that graduate student housing should not count toward the total.

Monday's hearing included testimony from Todd Bryan, executive director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, on the suitability of the White Farm. Called to the witness stand by Wendy Mager, an attorney representing the Friends of Princeton Open Space, Mr. Bryan sought to refute earlier testimony by the Township's planning consultant Richard Collier of Wallace Roberts and Todd that the White Farm was important as an aquifer recharge area and therefore should not be developed.

He also said that the wetlands areas on the White Farm were of the highest category because they were past or present habitats for threatened or endangered species. Mr. Bryan cited the barred owl, the Henslow sparrow and the long-tailed salamander as examples of species that could be found "in the vicinity of the White Farm" or might live there in the future if the area were preserved.

He spoke of new wetlands legislation which will require a 150-foot buffer from development, but acknowledged on cross examination that the requirement will not go into effect until July, 1989.

Not Zoning Czars. Judge Serpentelli remarked several times during the day that the Township has had several years in which to try to acquire or condemn, either on its own, or with State, federal or private money, all or part of the White Farm but had not "chosen" to do so. Ronald Reisner, attorney for the Township in this Mt. Laurel case, pointed out that the Township had been sued for a builder's remedy for 12 units to the acre on the White Farm but had come to the court with an overall package that attempted to address many factors. Judge Serpentelli replied that the Township "was not only passively accepting" the White Farm as a site for affordable housing but "was actively pursuing it" as part of the plan.

"Some people are making it sound like the court is jamming the site down the Township's throat," the judge remarked. At the close of the day, he added, "There is a tendency to misunderstand the role of the court as having unlimited powers. In the four years since package has been imposed on a municipality."

He described his powers under the Mt. Laurel decision as being "extremely limited," and added, "I sometimes wish it were otherwise." He said the Mt. Laurel judges are not "zoning czars" but are required to pass on the suitability of a plan.

Martha Traylor, an attorney who teaches at Seton Hall and is a member of the Princeton Friends Meeting, told Judge Serpentelli the White Farm was particularly important to the Princeton Meeting because it was the location of the earliest Quaker settlement. She asked the judge for time to work out a "sharing of resources" with Trenton, by which she meant a regional contribution agreement of housing built in Trenton to satisfy Princeton's requirement.

Judge Serpentelli told her, "The number is not the problem, the problem is acquiring the site." He also said he could not prolong the litigation any longer, and pointed out that the more time passes the more difficult it becomes to acquire the property. Ms. Traylor said she understood there was an organization considering buying the land, but the attorney for Calton Homes said there were no purchase negotiations underway.

Arch Davis listed traffic impact, lack of sewer, aquifer recharge importance, wetlands incursion, historic value, and lack of village amenities as "deficiencies" in the Calton Homes plan. As an engineer, Mr. Davis said he was particularly concerned with the saturated condition of Route 206 and Princeton Pike, where the entrance/exits to the White Farm will be located. He also voiced concern that a traffic light might have to be installed at the top of Breuere's Hill.

Mr. Davis suggested that Calton develop only the southern 20 acres of the tract in 10 single family homes on two-acre plots — thereby recouping its investment — and that the rest be a public park. He also suggested building at a higher density with shopping included to reduce the number of traffic trips into and out of the site.

In concluding, Judge Serpentelli said he might have additional questions for Mr. Caton, the court-appointed master, to answer. He also characterized the issue of whether or not to include graduate housing as "a difficult one."

Borough Study

munication is mis-channelled and often misinterpreted."

The report found that morale and communication were prominent in needing most improvement in a majority of Borough departments, and that the informality of Borough communications leads to frustration among officials and department heads. For example, employees of the Public Works Department and Sewer Operating Committee complained that they do not receive information on priorities or directions for carrying out assignments.

The report also determined that miscommunication and/or lack of communication impeded the overall performance of the Borough, and that the circumvention of chains of command and improper information flow promote conflict and delays. This situation has led to greater involvement by the Mayor and Council in expediting complaints, assignments or projects, which, in turn, has confused staff and contributed to low morale.

In addition, the report determined that job descriptions, policies, and procedures are not well-defined; that methods of managing, tracking, and reporting various projects are often inconsistent and informal; and that there exists overall dissatisfaction with the current employee performance evaluation criteria. Confusion and dissatisfaction regarding the process of computerization was also seen.

Inadequate Work Space. The report also disclosed displeasure on the part of Borough employees with both the limited amount of office space and with efforts to improve accommodations, as well as some general dissatisfaction relating to staffing levels, recruitment, and work distribution.

Among its recommendations, Peat Marwick suggests that the Borough develop a way of monitoring performance tracking of projects, and that detailed and accurate job descriptions, policies, and procedures be documented.

It points out that a few Borough departments are now operating with automated support systems, while others have no existing applications, and suggests that each automation effort should not be viewed as a "stand-alone" system.

The Borough was also advised to perform a review of current and future space and equipment needs. Within its overall conclusion that morale can be improved through the implementation of its recommendation "with the input and support of employees," the report states that involving employees in a space requirements and layout study should foster greater satisfaction with the results.

A number of activities were involved in developing the Peat Marwick recommendations. These included meetings with the administrator, clerk, attorney, ten department heads, and 12 staff members.

Phase II of the study will look at the way the Borough begins to computerize its financial operations, said Council President Marvin Reed, who added that the Peat Marwick recommendations will be applied to the approach to the 1989 municipal budget. "The budget process will be as much a planning as financial exercise," he said.
